HOOVER WILL SPEAK IN FINAL CAMPAIGN EFFORT IN NEW YORK

Candidate Remains Secluded Before Big Meeting

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Herbert Hoover will bring his eastern campaign to its close here in Governor Alfred E. Smith's home city today in a manner strange for presidential candidates but entirely characteristic of him.

The front pages of New York's papers tell that he is here, but very few will see him, outside of a comparative handful of Republican leaders, until he appears for his address tonight before 20,000 persons at Madison Square Garden.

The Republican presidential candidate was almost a recluse, remaining within the hotel for a series of conferences and he left his suite on the third floor only for meals.

He was rushed to his hotel last night when he arrived here from Washington at 9:30 without stopping for a demonstration by the crowd which gathered in the Pennsylvania station to see him.

Hoover told friends he was well satisfied with the progress of the campaign. He sought today in his conferences with Republican workers to infuse them with enthusiasm for the final two weeks drive.

Hoover was up early today, after a night's rest. He retired soon after his arrival here. He had breakfast this morning with a group of Republican leaders, including Daniel H. Pomeroy, vice-chairman of the Republican national committee, National Committeeman Charles D. Hilles, and State Republican Chairman H. Edmund MacBride.

A real outpouring of Republican enthusiasm was expected at a luncheon and reception, beginning at 12:30 p. m. at which more than 500 Republican leaders, including county chairmen, are expected.

Vice President Dawes will make his first campaign speech tonight, preceding Hoover. A national radio hook-up will carry the two speeches to the country.

EPISCOPALIANS DISCUSS UNITY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The final joint session of the House of Bishops and the House of Deputies of the Episcopal General convention is scheduled for today when christian unification of the world will be discussed.

At the same time the church will plan for the proposed national evangelistic campaign to be launched in 1929.

Unless delayed by unexpected business the conference expects to adjourn Wednesday. It was reported, however, that two of the four bishops elected Friday to missionary posts will decline to accept.

If this action is taken, the convention will be forced into an extra day's session.

"World Peace" was the topic of the convention yesterday afternoon in a gigantic mass meeting at Washington Cathedral.

Bishop Oldham, of Albany, N. Y., warned the convention that patriotism of the 100 per cent American kind is the greatest single danger to peace in the world today.

DECLINES RIDE

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 22.—Henry Ford has announced he will not accept Dr. Hugo Eckener's invitation to take a trip on the Graf Zeppelin but added he was anxious to see the big dirigible.

Ford and his wife are visiting the family of Thomas A. Edison, at Lilely Park.

HAS MARKETING PLAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—B. F. Yoakum, chairman of the Empire Bond and Mortgage Co., has submitted a marketing plan to all wheat operators, which, he believes, can be extended to other farm commodities.

He proposes the enactment of a general farm marketing plan under which producers of any standard farm product can organize farmer-controlled stabilization corporations to conduct marketing. Each commodity, Yoakum said, should be organized as a separate commercial unit.

PHILADELPHIA GRAFT TARGET HAS COLLAPSE

Police Captain Is Affected Mentally By Examination

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—After suffering from mental and physical collapse Sunday morning following hours of questioning before District Attorney John A. Monaghan last week, Police Captain James H. Ellison was to be released today from the psychopathic ward of the Philadelphia General Hospital.

Ellison, one of the police officials under fire in the special grand jury's investigation of graft and collusion by police with the crime interests, was found Sunday morning by a fireman, wandering about in a dazed condition in a dazed condition.

The fireman called an ambulance and took Ellison to the Philadelphia General Hospital. Dr. J. M. Stouffer, in charge of the psychopathic ward, understood Ellison had become violent when first put under observation.

Last week Monaghan and the grand jury questioned Ellison for hours on three consecutive days.

A new "black book" telling of graft payments to police by bootleggers and saloon keepers is in the hands of District Attorney Monaghan as the special grand jury went into its tenth week of investigation. It is believed Monaghan will divulge the contents of the "black book."

The arrest of more police captains is also forecast.

POLITICS ON THE RADIO

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Tonight's radio political headline is Herbert Hoover's in Madison Square Garden over a coast-to-coast chain of the NBC headed by WJZ.

The speech is expected to go on the air at 8:30 p. m., eastern time, and the network will "sign off" at 9:45.

The prepared schedules of the WEAF and WJZ chains will be shifted to accommodate the address of the Republican Presidential candidate. The Republican National Committee has killed its regular Monday evening program over WEAF chain, from 8:00 to 8:30 p. m. A string quartet will occupy the half-hour instead.

The General Motors program will go on the WEAF network at 9:45 instead of 9:30 and "Real Folks" on the WJZ chain will start at the conclusion of Hoover's speech. The opera, "Lohengrin," will be sung over the WEAF hook-up at the close of the General Motors hour.

The Hoover network includes WJZ and WLW.

ROBINSON BOOKED FOR DAYTON SPEECH

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 22.—A determined fight is being waged to carry Nebraska for the Democratic ticket with the chances considerably heightened by the praise for Governor Alfred E. Smith that has been expressed by Senator George Norris, Progressive Republican.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson, Democratic nominee for vice president is giving more time to the state than to any other so far visited in his country wide tour.

Sunday usually has been used for traveling from one state to another, but yesterday Robinson remained here for an address tonight. Senator Robinson will visit at least nine more states in the remaining two weeks of the campaign, and on many days he will speak both afternoon and night.

WANT TO TALK TO MARS?

British Scientist Says He Has Visited Planet; Has National Anthem.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Dr. Mansfield Robinson, who will attempt to communicate with Mars by radio Wednesday, stirred new interest in his project today by asserting he had a dictaphone record on which the national anthem of Mars was recorded.

He placed the record, which he said contained a Martian love song and the alphabet used on our sister planet, with the national laboratory for physical research at Kensington.

Robinson said he obtained the record through the co-operation of two women—one on Mars and one on the Earth. The woman on Mars, he said, is "Oonarru" who guided his "etherial body" when it made a trip across the 35,000,000 miles to the planet.

Oonarru's earthly assistant was Mrs. St. John James, a medium, who is said to have emitted strange noises, including wails, groans and hideous laughter while she was in a trance receiving the message.

On Wednesday Robinson will send a message over the powerful Rugby radio station and then wait a half hour for an answer from Mars. Scientists were divided today on the feasibility of his project and the English people were frankly skeptical.

A. M. Low, a well-known scientist, said he had a friend who had visited Mars, but refused to reveal his name. The friend, Low said, had

THEATER MEN STRIKE BACK

ABATEMENT PLEAS CLAIM GRAND JURY VIOLATED ITS OATH

Discrimination Charged In Sunday Movie Case.

A charge that the October grand jury violated its oath in returning indictments against James T. Hibbert and Henry L. Binder, proprietors of the Bijou Theater and Orpheum Theater, respectively, for exhibiting motion pictures on Sunday, is contained in pleas in abatement filed in Common Pleas Court Monday morning by Attorney F. L. Johnson, co-defense counsel.

It is claimed the grand jury showed discrimination in returning the indictments inasmuch as five cigar stores and pool rooms and between ten and twenty grocery stores in Xenia had for several Sundays preceding the meeting of the grand jury "openly and notoriously" violated the state law in reference to Sunday closing and common labor on Sunday.

The charge was also made that a public swimming pool had been operated here during the summer months at which common labor was employed, which was also in violation of the Sunday closing law.

All of these facts were known to the prosecutor and the grand jurors at the time when the cases against the two theater owners were considered, it is asserted.

Despite this knowledge of other alleged violations, no indictments were presented against operators of other Sunday businesses and none were asked, but the grand jury singled out Binder and Hibbert and they alone were indicted.

RASKOB REFUSES TO COMMENT ON LATEST ATTACKS ON HOOVER

Questions Poll And Reveals Letter To Dr. Work.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—With Herbert Hoover, the opposition candidate, invading New York, Chairman John J. Raskob of the Democratic national committee set a record for campaign activity over the week end.

He was besieged by newspapermen for comment on latest developments in the all lease cases at Washington. He was asked whether he intended to curb Governor Bilbo of Tennessee in the latter's statement that Hoover had danced with a Negroess. He declined to speak on these matters "for the time being."

But he was not silent in other respects. He issued a statement challenging the accuracy of the Literary Digest poll, which so far has shown all but four states for Hoover. He cited errors in the Digest poll of four years ago to indicate that Governor Alfred E. Smith Democratic nominee, has a chance to be president.

He made public a letter he had written to Chairman Work of the Republican party, saying that organization had "become simply the prohibition party of the United States."

In the letter Raskob also attacked Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, for declaring untrue the statement that Hoover tried to hold down wheat prices at the close of the war.

Raskob said Borah, in quoting correspondence from the wheat situation, had failed to quote the following cable from Hoover: "Again I wish to repeat that, unless some superior force intervenes, we intend to hold the price of wheat to the figures it has stood during the entire war."

Robinson said he obtained the record through the co-operation of two women—one on Mars and one on the Earth. The woman on Mars, he said, is "Oonarru" who guided his "etherial body" when it made a trip across the 35,000,000 miles to the planet.

PLAN ZEPPELIN TRIP

JAILED GANG HEAD'S WIFE SLAIN

Though police were watching her home in an effort to catch a member of her husband's gang wanted for a holdup, and believed to have been visiting her, someone entered the apartment of Mrs. Alta Wolch, Sunnyside, Queens, Long Island, and murdered her. New York police are investigating the crime on the theory that she may have been killed for "squealing." The murdered woman, who went by the name of Wolch, though she was the wife of Tony Bonello, alias Leo Gordon, was a night club hostess. Bonello is soon to go to trial on a charge of participating in the sensational $19,000 bank holdup in Kansas City, Mo., during the Republican national convention there.

DEATH RIDES WITH LEADER IN CONEY ISLAND SUNDAY RACES

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 22.—With but three miles to go in a 100 lap auto race at the Coney Island one-mile dirt track, death boarded the racing car of Earl Calvin, 33, Indianapolis, yesterday.

Calvin, driving a Chevrolet Special, was leading with victory within his grasp when his steering gear locked and his auto crashed through a fence.

Some 2,000 persons saw him attempt to save himself by jumping from the machine but his body struck the top rail of the fence.

DIRIGIBLE LEAVES THURSDAY ON TRIP; TO RETURN FRIDAY

Air Liner Will Pass Over Columbus And Cincinnati.

AKRON, O., Oct. 22.—Thursday and Friday have been definitely set as the days on which the Graf Zeppelin will fly over Ohio.

A complete itinerary of the inland tour to be made by the big dirigible was made public today by Hugu Allen, director of public relations for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company and American representative of Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin.

With Dr. Eckener in command, the dirigible is scheduled to leave the navy hangar at Lakehurst, N. J., at daylight Thursday. It will head for Scott Field, Ill., by way of Pittsburgh, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis and St. Louis.

The night will be spent at Scott Field. Early Friday the dirigible will start the return trip, going first to Chicago, Milwaukee and Detroit. Then, turning south, it is expected to reach Cleveland about noon, swing down to Akron and back over Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Syracuse, Albany, New York and back to Lakehurst.

Dr. Eckener was in Chicago today, after spending most of Sunday in conference with officials of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., and the Goodyear Zeppelin Corporation here.

The conference developed the following:

1. Consideration of a Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation combination to establish a transatlantic dirigible service.
2. Recommendation by navy officials of Fulton Field, Akron, for the site of factories to build the two navy Zeppelins.
3. Decision of Goodyear-Zeppelin directors on the site for the dirigible plants some time this week.

Probable selection of Akron as the center of America's dirigible construction.

At the conference besides Dr. Eckener were P. W. Litchfield, president of Goodyear and Goodyear-Zeppelin; Rear Admiral William A. Moffett; Commander Earl Fulton, lighterman air craft division chief; Dr. Karl Arstein, vice-president in charge of engineering at Goodyear-Zeppelin; Dr. Wolfgang Klemperer, Goodyear dirigible engineer; Charles A. Stillman, vice-president of Goodyear; and William Young, head of Goodyear aeronautical department.

Eckener and his group arrived in Akron early Sunday. They were taken to Litchfield's home where the conference was held.

In Eckener's party were his son, Knute Eckener, Harry Vissering, Chicago Goodyear-Zeppelin director; Hans Von Schiller, group pilot of the Graf Zeppelin; Captain Ernest Lehmann, second in command of the Graf Zeppelin; Count Alexander von Bradenstein-Zepplin, son-in-law of Count Zepplin, inventor of the craft that bears his name, and Commander Rosendahl, chief of the Los Angeles.

Eckener told newspapermen he would try to interest Goodyear-Zeppelin in a plan to furnish four huge Zeppelins for transatlantic commercial service.

"Two of the ships would be constructed in Germany and two in the United States with operating centers on each coast," he said.

On Thursday he will move on to New York to plan the remainder of his itinerary and it is doubtful whether he will return to Albany before election day two weeks from tomorrow. It is expected he will go to Baltimore for a speech Friday or Saturday, and thereafter speak in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

His base headquarters probably will be established in New York for the remainder of the campaign so he can keep in close touch with his campaign manager, John J. Raskob, and other campaign officials. None of his addresses has yet been written but he has a general outline of them in mind and intends to write each speech the day before it is to be delivered, so that he may keep it up-to-the-minute.

WOMAN INJURED IN JUMP; STUDENTS AT ATHENS FIGHT FIRE

Historic Hostelry Guttled By Early Morning Blaze

ATHENS, O., Oct. 22.—One person was injured and about a dozen or more were overcome by smoke when fire destroyed the rear portion of the historic Hotel Berry here early today with a loss of approximately $50,000.

Heroic work by two score Ohio University students who aided the volunteer fire department, probably prevented a more disastrous fire.

About twenty-five guests were in the hotel when fire broke out in the basement about 2 a. m. All the lights in the hotel went out suddenly and the blaze went up an air shaft in the rear of the hotel to the third floor and then to the roof of the building.

The rooms and hallways filled with smoke which aroused the guests, some of whom escaped by leaping from second story windows. Others jumped to the roofs of an adjoining building to safety.

Miss Ray Mitchell, of New York, regional director of Girl Scout work in Ohio, jumped from a second story window into an area-way and suffered a broken leg. She was taken to a local hospital.

Ohio University students assisted the local firemen in operating ten lines of hose which were directed on the rear of the hotel where the fire was brought under control at 7 a. m.

The students fought the fire from an adjoining building and about a half a dozen or more were overcome by smoke and given medical attention.

Most of the 100 rooms in the rear of the hotel were burned out or water soaked.

The section hit by fire was an addition erected to the front part of the hotel about two years ago. Rooms in the front section were only damaged by water.

The Hotel Berry is well-known throughout Ohio and the country. It was founded by Ed. C. Berry, colored, who has since retired. He still lives in Athens.

The hotel was purchased from Berry by a company composed of local business men some time ago. Many lives might have been lost had the fire occurred last Friday or Saturday night when the hotel was packed with persons here for the Ohio University home-coming celebration.

SMITH WILL IGNORE HOOVER INVASION; PLANNING SPEECHES

Boston Will Hear First; Plans To Visit Baltimore

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Ignoring the Republican invasion of his native state, Governor Alfred E. Smith packed his golf bags on his shoulder and set out for the link today to get himself in physical trim for a sweep of the Atlantic seaboard.

Starting Wednesday, he will begin an intensive campaign which will carry him from Boston to Baltimore. He will speak in most of the larger cities. He will broadcast at least five and perhaps more addresses over a national alignment. He will wave his brown derby on the route from Massachusetts to Maryland.

His first speech will be in Boston Wednesday night. He is working on that address now, shaping up an appeal to labor based upon his record as governor of New York.

On Thursday he will move on to New York to plan the remainder of his itinerary and it is doubtful whether he will return to Albany before election day two weeks from tomorrow. It is expected he will go to Baltimore for a speech Friday or Saturday, and thereafter speak in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

H. L. Ferneding, president of The Dayton-Xenia Railway Co., announced Saturday the completion of negotiations for the purchase of The Springfield and Xenia Traction Co., following a meeting with Warren Bicknell, Cleveland, president of the purchased company.

The acquisition of this line by the Dayton and Xenia Company will give it a through line from Dayton to Springfield by way of Xenia. When details of the purchase are complete and the equipment is taken over, the Springfield car barns will be abandoned.

Mr. Ferneding said Saturday, and the purchaser's barns, near Belmont, will be used. A new time schedule will also be arranged, cutting the time twenty minutes from Springfield to Dayton, it is said. All equipment of the Springfield and Xenia line will be overhauled while but three of the cars will be retained. The remainder of the cars will be scrapped, Mr. Ferneding said. The purchased line, which has been in operation since 1902, includes eighteen miles of track and is 70 per cent privately owned, it is announced. Fares between the stations on the line will not be changed.

HOOVER WILL SPEAK IN FINAL CAMPAIGN EFFORT IN NEW YORK

Candidate Remains Secluded Before Big Meeting

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Herbert Hoover will bring his eastern campaign to its close here in Governor Alfred E. Smith's home city today in a manner strange for presidential candidates but entirely characteristic of him.

The front pages of New York's papers tell that he is here, but very few will see him, outside of a comparative handful of Republican leaders, until he appears for his address tonight before 20,000 persons at Madison Square Garden.

The Republican presidential candidate was almost a recluse, remaining within the hotel for a series of conferences and he left his suite on the third floor only for meals.

He was rushed to his hotel last night when he arrived here from Washington at 9:30 without stopping for a demonstration by the crowd which gathered in the Pennsylvania station to see him.

Hoover told friends he was well satisfied with the progress of the campaign. He sought today in his conferences with Republican workers to infuse them with enthusiasm for the final two weeks drive.

Good night's rest. He retired soon after his arrival here. He had breakfast this morning with a group of Republican leaders, including Daniel H. Pomeroy, vice-chairman of the Republican national committee, National Committee Chairman Charles D. Hilles, and State Republican Chairman H. Edmund Machold.

A real outpouring of Republican enthusiasm was expected at a luncheon and reception, beginning at 12:30 p. m. at which more than 500 Republican leaders, including county chairmen, are expected.

Vice President Dawes will make his first campaign speech tonight, preceding Hoover. A national radio hook-up will carry the two speeches to the country.

EPISCOPALIANS DISCUSS UNITY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The final joint session of the House of Bishops and the House of Deputies of the Episcopal General convention is scheduled for today when a resolution for the unity of the world will be discussed.

At the same time the church will plan for the proposed national evangelistic campaign to be launched in 1929.

Unless delayed by unexpected business the conference expects to adjourn Wednesday. It was reported, however, that two of the four bishops elected Friday to missionary posts will decline to accept.

If this action is taken, the convention will be forced into an extra day's session.

"World Peace" was the topic of the convention yesterday afternoon in a gigantic mass meeting at Washington Cathedral.

Bishop Oldham, of Albany, N. Y., warned the convention that patriotism of the 100 per cent American kind is the greatest single danger to peace in the world today.

Binder, proprietors of the Bijou Theater and Orpheum Theater, respectively, for exhibiting motion pictures on Sunday, is contained in pleas in abatement filed in Common Pleas Court Monday morning by Attorney F. L. Johnson, co-defense counsel.

It is claimed the grand jury showed discrimination in returning the indictments inasmuch as five cigar stores and pool rooms and between ten and twenty grocery stores in Xenia had for several Sundays preceding the meeting of the grand jury "openly and notoriously" violated the state law in reference to Sunday closing and common labor on Sunday.

The charge was also made that a public swimming pool had been operated here during the summer months at which common labor was employed, which was also in violation of the Sunday closing law.

All of these facts were known to the prosecutor and the grand jurors at the time when the cases against the two theater owners were considered, it is asserted. Despite this knowledge of other alleged violations, no indictments were presented against operators of other Sunday businesses and none were asked, but the grand jury singled out Binder and Hibbert and they alone were indicted.

RASKOB REFUSES TO COMMENT ON LATEST ATTACKS ON HOOVER

Questions Poll And Reveals Letter To Dr. Work.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—With Herbert Hoover, the opposition candidate, invading New York, Chairman John J. Raskob of the Democratic national committee set a record for campaign activity over the week end.

He was besieged by newspapermen for comment on latest developments in the oil lease cases at Washington. He was asked whether he intended to curb Governor Bilbo of Tennessee in the latter's statement that Hoover had danced with a Negroess. He declined to speak on these matters "for the time being."

But he was not silent in other respects. He issued a statement challenging the accuracy of the Literary Digest poll, which so far has shown all but four states for Hoover. He cited errors in the Digest poll of four years ago to indicate that Governor Alfred E. Smith Democratic nominee, has a chance to be president.

He made public a letter he had written to Chairman Work of the Republican party, saying that organization had "become simply the prohibition party of the United States."

In the letter Raskob also attacked Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, for declaring untrue the statement that Hoover tried to hold down wheat prices at the close of the war.

Raskob said Borah, in quoting correspondence relating to the wheat situation, had failed to quote the following cable from Hoover: "Ain I wish to repeat that, unless some superior force intervenes we intend to hold the price of wheat to the figures it has stood during the entire war."

ROBINSON BOOKED FOR DAYTON SPEECH

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 22.—A determined fight is being waged to carry Nebraska for the Democratic ticket with the chances considerably heightened by the praise for Governor Alfred E. Smith that has been expressed by Senator George Norris, Progressive Republican.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson, Democratic nominee for vice president is giving more time to the state than to any other so far visited in his country wide tour.

Sunday usually has been used for traveling from one state to another, but yesterday Robinson remained here for an address to the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce.

Senator Robinson will visit at least nine more states in the remaining two weeks of the campaign, and on many days he will speak both afternoon and night.

DECLINES RIDE

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 22.—Henry Ford has announced he will not accept Dr. Hugo Eckener's invitation to take a trip on the Graf Zeppelin, but added he was anxious to see the big dirigible.

Ford and his wife are visiting the family of Thomas A. Edison, at Lileyn Park.

PLAN ZEPPELIN TRIP

JAILED GANG HEAD'S WIFE SLAIN

Though police were watching her home in an effort to catch a member of her husband's gang wanted for a holdup, and believed to have been visiting her, someone entered the apartment of Mrs. Alta Wolch, Sunnyside, Queens, Long Island, and murdered her. New York police are investigating the crime on the theory that she may have been killed for "squealing." The murdered woman, who went by the name of Wolch, though she was the wife of Tony Bonello, alias Leo Gordon, was a night club hostess. Bonello is soon to go to trial on a charge of participating in the sensational $19,000 bank holdup in Kansas City, Mo., during the Republican national convention there.

DEATH RIDES WITH LEADER IN CONEY ISLAND SUNDAY RACES

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 22.—With but three miles to go in a 100 lap auto race at the Coney Island mile dirt track, death boarded the racing car of Earl Calvin, 35, Indianapolis, yesterday.

Calvin, driving a Chevrolet Special, was leading with victory within his grasp when his steering gear locked and his auto crashed through a fence.

Some 2000 persons saw him attempt to save himself by jumping from the machine, but his body struck the top rail of the fence.

The accident was the second in the running of the race in which twenty drivers started.

On the forty-third lap the car driven by Albert Thiesen, 21, of Detroit, went through a fence and caught fire. Before Thiesen could be taken from the burning car he was burned about the hands and body.

Only five drivers finished. Robert Carey of Dayton, O., winning, the time being fifty-one minutes and two seconds.

The race was the fourth and last of the season.

STUDENT INJURED

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 22.—Physicians today pronounced as critical the condition of Paul Kuschbaum, 20, of Middletown, student at Capital University who was seriously injured when two automobiles collided here. The car in which Kuschbaum was riding overturned.

WANT TO TALK TO MARS?

British Scientist Says He Has Visited Planet; Has National Anthem.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Dr. Mansfield Robinson, who will attempt to communicate with Mars by radio Wednesday, stirred new interest in his project today by asserting he had a dictophone record on which the national anthem of Mars was recorded.

He placed the record, which he said also contained a Martian love song and the alphabet used on his sister planet, with the national laboratory for physical research at Kensington.

Robinson said he obtained the record through the cooperation of two women—one on Mars and the other on the Earth. The woman on Mars, he said, is "Oonarrun," who guided his "etheral body" when it made a trip across the 35,000,000 miles to the planet.

Oonarrun's earthly assistant was Mrs. St. John James, a medium, who is said to have emitted strange noises, including wails, groans and hideous laughter while she was in a trance receiving the message.

On Wednesday Robinson will send a message over the powerful Rugby radio station and then wait a half hour for an answer from Mars. Scientists were divided today on the feasibility of his project and the English people were frankly skeptical.

A. M. Low, a well-known scientist, said he had a friend who had visited Mars, but refused to reveal his name. The friend, Low said, told him the women on Mars had two thumbs on each hand and had telescopic eyes and knew all about the Earth.

Sir Oliver Lodge said he did not favor the experiment.

"We are completely ignorant of whether Mars is inhabited," he said.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle said he was not concerned with the experiment, but that he had no doubt that attempts to communicate with Mars eventually would succeed.

DIRIGIBLE LEAVES THURSDAY ON TRIP; TO RETURN FRIDAY

Air Liner Will Pass Over Columbus And Cincinnati.

AKRON, O., Oct. 22.—Thursday and Friday have been definitely set as the days on which the Graf Zeppelin will fly over Ohio.

A complete itinerary of the inland tour to be made by the big dirigible was made public today by Hugu Allen, director of public relations for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company and American representative of Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin.

With Dr. Eckener in command, the dirigible is scheduled to leave the navy hangar at Lakehurst, N. J., at daylight Thursday. It will fly for Scott Field, Ill., by way of Pittsburgh, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis and St. Louis.

The night will be spent at Scott Field. Early Friday the dirigible will start the return trip, going first to Chicago, Milwaukee and Detroit. Then, turning south, it is expected to reach Cleveland about noon, sailing down to Akron and back over Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Syracuse, Albany, New York and back to Lakehurst.

Dr. Eckener was in Chicago today, after spending most of Sunday in conference with officials of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., and the Goodyear Zeppelin Corporation here.

The conference developed the following:

1. Consideration of a Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation-German Zeppelin company combination to establish a transatlantic dirigible service.

2. Recommendation by navy officials of Fulton Field, Akron, for the site of factories to build the two navy Zeppelins.

3. Decision of Goodyear-Zeppelin directors on the site for the dirigible plants some time this week.

4. Probable selection of Akron as the center of America's dirigible construction.

At the conference besides Dr. Eckener were P. W. Litchfield, president of Goodyear and Goodyear-Zeppelin; Rear Admiral William A. Moffett; Commander Garland Fulton, lighter-than air craft division chief; Dr. Karl Arstein, vice-president in charge of engineering at Goodyear-Zeppelin; Dr. Wolfgang Klemperer, Goodyear dirigible engineer; Charles A. Stillman, vice-president of Goodyear; and William Young, head of Goodyear aeronautical department.

Eckener and his group arrived in Akron early Sunday. They were taken to Litchfield's home where the conference was held.

In Eckener's party were his son, Knute Eckener, Harry Vissering, Chicago Goodyear-Zeppelin director; Hans Von Schiller, ground pilot of the Graf Zeppelin; Captain Ernest Lehmann, second in command of the Graf Zeppelin; Count Alexander Von Bradenstein, Count-law of Count Zeppelin, inventor of the craft that bears his name, and Commander Rosendahl, chief of the Los Angeles.

Eckener told newspapermen he would try to interest Goodyear-Zeppelin in a plan to furnish four huge Zeppelins for transatlantic commercial service.

One of the ships would be constructed in Germany and two in the United States with operating centers on each coast," he said.

He told him the women on Mars had two thumbs on each hand and had telescopic eyes and knew all about the Earth.

Sir Oliver Lodge said he did not favor the experiment.

"We are completely ignorant of whether Mars is inhabited," he said.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle said he was not concerned with the experiment, but that he had no doubt that attempts to communicate with Mars eventually would succeed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Radio communication with Mars, or any other planetary body, is regarded as fantastic by Dr. J. H. Dellinger, chief engineer of the federal radio commission.

Extensive experiments in past years by the U. S. Bureau of Standards, and other scientific bodies have conclusively demonstrated the impossibility of saying "hello" to Mars by radio, Dr. Dellinger told the United Press today.

Radio communication with Mars by long waves, as proposed by a British amateur, is considered by Dellinger impossible because of a "radio ceiling" about 100 miles above the Earth's surface. It is not possible for radio waves to penetrate this "ceiling." High frequency waves, when broadcast, shoot up to the ceiling with the speed of light, and then are quickly bounced back to the Earth.

JERUSALEM, Oct. 22.—The strained relations between the Jews and the Arabs were worse today as a result of the Moslems' attack on Jewish worshippers Saturday during the Walling Wall service. A British guard has been requested to maintain order.

WOMAN INJURED IN JUMP; STUDENTS AT ATHENS FIGHT FIRE

Historic Hostelry Guttled By Early Morning Blaze

ATHENS, O., Oct. 22.—One person was injured and a half a dozen or more were overcome by smoke when fire destroyed the rear portion of the historic Hotel Berry here early today with a loss of approximately $50,000.

Heroic work by two score Ohio University students who aided the volunteer fire department, probably prevented a more disastrous fire.

About twenty-five guests were in the hotel when fire broke out in the basement about 2 a. m. All the lights in the hotel went out suddenly and the blaze went up an air shaft in the rear of the hotel to the third floor and then to the roof of the building.

The rooms and hallways filled with smoke which aroused the guests, some of whom escaped by leaping from second story windows. Others jumped to the roofs of an adjoining building to safety.

Miss Ray Mitchell, of New York, regional director of Girl Scout work in Ohio, jumped from a second story window into an area-way and suffered a broken leg. She was taken to a local hospital.

Ohio University students assisted the local firemen in operating ten lines of hoses which were directed on the rear of the hotel where the fire was brought under control at 7 a. m.

The students fought the fire from an adjoining building and about a half a dozen or more were overcome by smoke and given medical attention.

Most of the 100 rooms in this rear of the hotel were burned out or water soaked.

The section hit by fire was an addition erected to the front part of the hotel about two years ago. Rooms in the front section were only damaged by water.

The Hotel Berry is well-known throughout Ohio and the country. It was founded by Ed. C. Berry, colored, who has since retired. He still lives in Athens.

The hotel was purchased from Berry by a company composed of local business men some time ago. Many lives might have been lost had the fire occurred last Friday or Saturday night when the hotel was packed with persons here for the Ohio University home-coming celebration.

SMITH WILL IGNORE HOOVER INVASION; PLANNING SPEECHES

Boston Will Hear First Plans To Visit Baltimore

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Ignoring the Republican invasion of his native state, Governor Alfred E. Smith packed his golf bags on his shoulder and set out for the links today to get himself in physical trim for a sweep of the Atlantic seaboard.

Starting Wednesday, he will begin an intensive campaign which will carry him from Boston to Baltimore. He will speak in most of the larger cities. He will broadcast addresses over a national alignment. He will wave his brown derby on the route from Massachusetts to Maryland.

His first speech will be in Boston Wednesday night. He is working on that address now, shaping up an appeal to labor based upon his record as governor of New York.

On Thursday he will move on to New York to plan the remainder of his itinerary and it is doubtful whether he will return to Albany before election day two weeks from tomorrow. It is expected he will go to Baltimore for a speech Friday or Saturday, and thereafter speak in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

His base headquarters will probably be established in New York for the remainder of the campaign so he can keep in close touch with his campaign manager, John J. Raskob, and other campaign officials. None of his addresses has yet been written but he has a general outline of them in mind and intends to write each speech the day before it is to be delivered, so that he may keep it up-to-the-minute.

SOCIALIST QUERIES SMITH ABOUT POWER

READING, Pa., Oct. 22.—Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president, has asked Governor Alfred E. Smith to explain more fully his stand on the power question.

The query was in the form of a letter which praised Smith for his vigorous attack on Hoover and the Republican party for their stand on Muscle Shoals and Boulder Dam.

Thomas asked the Democratic nominee whether as president he would merely retain power sites now owned by the government or whether he would attempt to deal with the "super power monopoly," and if so, how. He read the letter to a political audience here last night.

SUICIDE VERDICT IN FARMER'S DEATH

LANCASTER, O., Oct. 22.—Coroner W. H. Eck today was expected to return a verdict of suicide in the death of Clarence Blosser, 31 year old Bremen farmer who was found dead, with a bullet wound in his head.

The body was in Blosser's automobile. Eck said the bullet had been fired from Blosser's own gun and the fact that the young farmer's watch and other articles were not missing removed the murder-robery theory, he said.

Blosser is survived by his divorced wife and a son, Kenneth, 10.

TRUAX SPEECH CALLED OFF

Charles V. Truax, Ohio agriculture director, will not speak in Xenia Monday night. Truax came to Xenia Monday to dedicate the new state fish hatchery on the Springfield Pike and was scheduled to address a party rally at the Opera House Monday night.

A conflict in dates, however, made it impossible for him to speak here Monday night as he is scheduled for radio address over station WAOJ, Columbus. The speech he would have delivered here will be given at Columbus, Democratic leaders advised.

As no other speakers were available, the Democratic Monday night program was called off.

"KONJOLA MADE NEW MAN OF ME", FARMER DECLARES

Veteran Resident Of Greene County Was Unable To Work—Wife Relieved Of Rheumatism

Day by day the records of the glorious achievements of Konjola, the new medicine, grow; day by day come glowing endorsements of this master-remedy, from the men and women freed from disease, and made well again by this super-compound containing the juices of twenty-two roots and herbs.

This wonderful medicine is being explained to seekers after health daily, by the Konjola Man at the Gallagher Drug Store, 33 East Main Street, Xenia. The Konjola Man does not deal in promises and claims; he does not need to, for Konjola stands on its own record of recoveries; of new and glorious health restored after all other medicines and treatments had failed.

A convincing case is that of Mr. George Sims, R. R. Uo. 2, Xenia, for twenty-six years a resident. To the Konjola Man this venerable and widely known man said:

"Three years ago my stomach failed me completely. There was little that I could eat, and even that little caused indigestion, gas pains and bloating. I became seriously run down generally and then my kidneys and liver refused to function as they should. Poisons left in my system caused rheumatism and finally I became so sick and weak that I had to quit my work. I tried everything that was recommended, after physicians failed to help me, but to no avail.

"A few Sundays ago, a friend, who came to call on me, urged me to try Konjola. He said it was a wonderful medicine. I had heard that about other medicines, but he was so eager that I try this new compound that I decided to take his advice. Three weeks on Konjola made a new man of me. Today I can eat anything, all my rheumatism pains have vanished and my kidneys and bowels are entirely normal. I am doing right now as much a day on the farm as I ever did.

"Seeing that this blessed medicine did for me, my wife started taking it for her rheumatism she has had for a number of years. She has taken Konjola just two weeks and she is already fifty per cent better and will go right ahead with the treatment until she too is well as I am. There is nothing too good for me to say of Konjola after what it did for me. If anyone wants to know how this splendid medicine acts, just refer them to me. I feel it my duty to let everyone know of the merits of Konjola.

Thousands of ardent testimonials like this fill the files of Konjola. This master medicine, strange as it may seem, appears to be at its very best in cases that have defied treatment after treatment, medicine upon medicine. In five short years Konjola has won fame never approached by any other remedy.

The Konjola Man is at the Gallagher Drug Store, 33 East Main Street, where he is meeting the public daily and explaining the merits of this remarkable medicine.

Monday afternoon a large delegation headed by Mr. Ewbanks attended the performance of "Ben Hur" at three Bijou in Xenia, and found it very much worth while.

On the same afternoon, Miss Nicholas took a group of her Home Economics girls to Dayton As it "won't be long now" until they will be studying about home furnishings in earnest, they thought it would be a good time to go through the "Dream Home" already furnished, and also the "Thrifty House," in Rike's Art Department. The trip proved very interesting and instructive.

Robert McCalmont has evidently visited Keith's quite recently, for while trying to balance himself on two legs of a chair, he lost his balance and fell through the glass of a cupboard door, and cut his hand. He was promptly taken to the doctor, who removed a piece of glass from the wound and dressed it.

Four of Cedarville's prominent citizens were visitors at Beaver High School Monday, October 15. The reason for their visit was to tell us of the important attraction of their coming lecture course which will start October 25 with the chief attraction, Count Felix Von Luckner, of World War fame. Their Lyceum Course this year appears to be of unusually high order.

MINIATURE CHURCH

ERECTED TO CREATE "RALLY DAY" SPIRIT

The erection of a miniature church on a platform in the auditorium, featured the rally services of the Presbyterian Church Sunday at the 10:30 a. m. service.

Each member of the Sunday School and church was sent "bricks", which were returned Sunday morning to help build the church. Every department of the church was recognized.

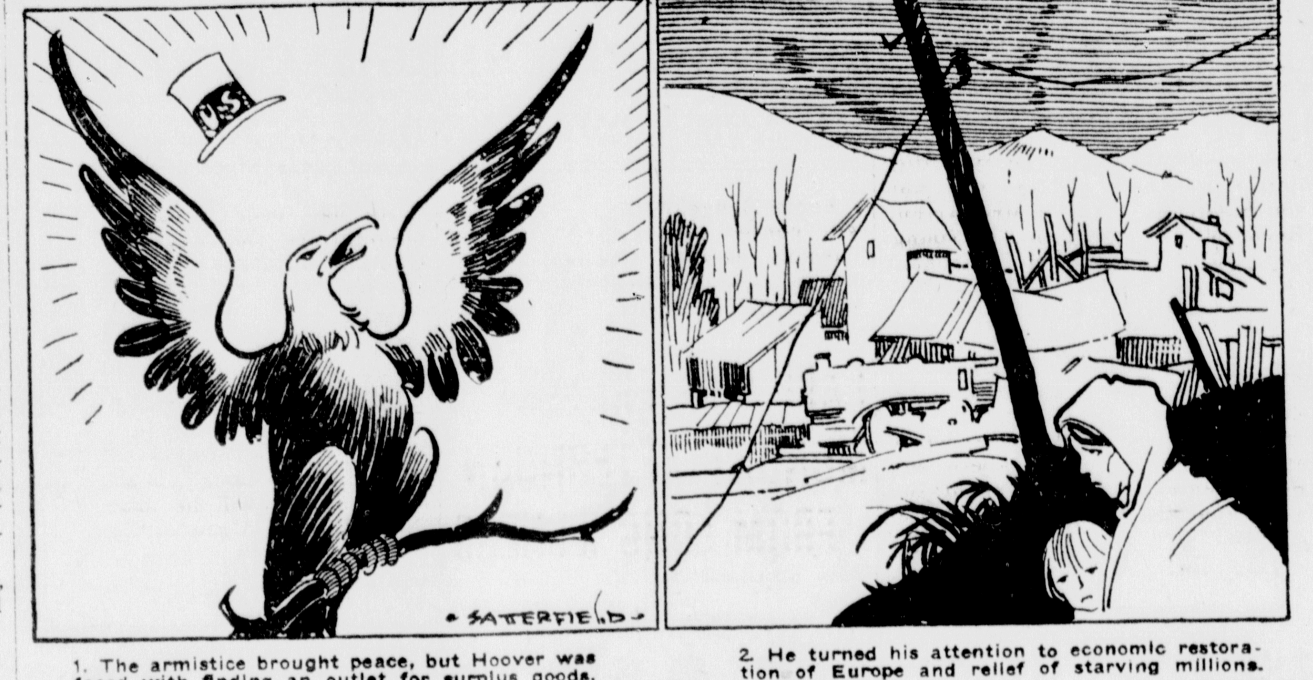

Supt. D. D. Jones presided. The Men's Bible Class had charge of the Scripture section and H. H. Slagle, represented the class. The foundation was presented by Frank L. Smith for the deacons, and was symbolic of "The Foundation for the Church, The Word of God, Stewardship, Attendance, and Service." The foundation for the tower with the cornerstone, "Jesus Christ," was presented by Dr. W. A. Galloway, for the board of elders. The walls were set in place by Hugh Espey, John Perrill, Robert Kinsey, Kenneth Finlay, Robert Funderberg and David Short.

The "bricks" returned were tabulated by the secretary, Ruth Alexander and panelled in by the designer of the church. Blank spaces were left indicating those who had not returned the "brick" and were not present.

A large imitation stained glass window was presented by the Ladies Aid Society, by Mrs. George Balmer, with appropriate remarks. The final part in the building of the church was by the pastor, the Rev. William H. Tilford, who presented an illuminated cross for the church, which was symbolic of the "presence of Christ and for Christ." At the close of his remarks, the lights were turned on in the church and the cross and the door opened for entrance for service, while the bell in the minia-

Monday morning for opening exercises Miss Fisher gave the high school a very amusing and interesting account of a trip she and four other girls took last summer in a "collegiate" Ford to the Young Friends' Conference at Oskaloosa, Iowa. The incident that was most striking in her talk was when a storm overtook them.

Thursday morning for opening exercises Mr. Devoe allowed the high school to take a straw vote for president, governor and U. S. senators. The result was as follows:

- President—Hoover 69, Smith 18.
- Governor—Cooper 65, Davey 14.

"KONJOLA MADE NEW MAN OF ME" FARMER DECLARES

Veteran Resident Of Greene County Was Unable To Work—Wife Relieved Of Rheumatism

Day by day the records of the glorious achievements of Konjola, the new medicine, grow; day by day come glowing endorsements of this master-remedy from the men and women freed from disease, and made well again by this super-compound containing the juices of twenty-two roots and herbs.

This wonderful medicine is being explained to seekers after health daily, by the Konjola Man at the Gallaher Drug Store, 33 East Main Street, Xenia. The Konjola Man does not deal in promises and claims; he does not need to, for Konjola stands on its own record of recoveries; of new and glorious health restored after all other medicines and treatments had failed.

A convincing case is that of Mr. George Sims, R. R. Co. 2, Xenia, for twenty-six years a resident. To the Konjola Man this venerable and widely known man said: "Three years ago my stomach failed me completely. There was little that I could eat, and even that little caused indigestion, gas pains and bloating. I became seriously run down generally and then my kidneys and liver refused to function as they should. Polycystitis in my system caused rheumatism and finally I became so sick and weak that I had to quit my work. I tried everything that was recommended, after physicians failed to help me, but to no avail.

"A few Sundays ago, a friend, who came to call on me, urged me to try Konjola. He said it was a wonderful medicine. I had heard that about other medicines, but he was so eager that I try this new compound that I decided to take his advice. Three weeks on Konjola made a new man of me. Today I can eat anything; all my rheumatism pains have vanished and my kidneys and bowels are entirely normal. I am doing right now as much as a day on the farm as I ever did.

"Seeing what this blessed medicine did for me, my wife started taking it for her rheumatism she has had for a number of years. She has taken Konjola just two weeks and she is already fifty per cent better and will go right ahead with the treatment until she is well as I am. There is nothing too good for me to say of Konjola after what it did for me. If anyone wants to know how this splendid medicine acts, just refer them to me. I feel it my duty to let everyone know of the merits of Konjola.

Thousands of ardent testimonials like this fill the files of Konjola. This master medicine, strange as it may seem, appears to be at its very best in cases that have defied treatment after treatment, medicine upon medicine. In five short years Konjola has won fame never approached by any other remedy. The Konjola Man is at the Gallaher Drug Store, 33 East Main Street, where he is meeting the public daily and explaining the merits of this remarkable medicine.

BEAVERCREEK HIGH NEWS

NEWS, GENERAL ITEMS

Mr. Smith called in a doctor for his typewriter this week so that he could put on more speed and print the Beaver news quicker.

On Tuesday, we had a new visitor at the High School, Mr. Ewbanks's police dog. As he looks like a good guard, it was suggested that Mr. Ewbanks sign him up for that position on the football team.

Monday afternoon a large delegation headed by Mr. Ewbanks attended the performance of "Ben Hur" at three Bijou in Xenia, and found it very much worth while.

Nicholas took a group of her Home Economics girls to Dayton as it "won't be long now" until they will be studying about home furnishings in earnest, they thought it would be a good time to go through the "Dream Home" already furnished, and also the "Thrift House," in Rike's Art Department. The trip proved very interesting and instructive.

Robert McCalmont has evidently visited Keith's quite recently, for while trying to balance himself on two legs of a chair, he lost his balance and fell through the glass of a cupboard door, and cut his hand. He was promptly taken to the doctor, who removed a piece of glass from the wound and dressed it.

Four of Cedarville's prominent citizens were visitors at Beaver High School Monday, October 15. The reason for their visit was to tell us of the important attraction of their coming lecture course which will start October 25 with the chief attraction, Count Felix Von Luckner, of World War fame. Their Lyceum Course this year appears to be of unusually high order.

MINIATURE CHURCH ERECTED TO CREATE "RALLY DAY" SPIRIT

The erection of a miniature church on a platform in the auditorium, featured the rally services of the Presbyterian Church Sunday at the 10:30 a. m. service.

Each member of the Sunday School and church was sent "bricks," which were returned Sunday morning to help build the church. Every department of the church was recognized.

Supt. D. D. Jones presided. The Men's Bible Class had charge of the Scripture section and H. H. Slagle, represented the class. The foundation was presented by Frank L. Smith for the deacons, and was symbolic of "The Foundation for the Church, The Word of God, Stewardship, Attendance, and Service." The foundation for the tower with the cornerstone, "Jesus Christ," was presented by Dr. W. A. Galloway, for the board of elders. The walls were set in place by Hugh Espey, John Perrill, Robert Kinsey, Kenneth Finlay, Robert Funderberg and David Short.

The "bricks" returned were tabulated by the secretary, Ruth Alexander and panelled in by the designer of the church. Blank spaces were left indicating those who had not returned the "brick" and were not present.

A large imitation stained glass window was presented by the Ladies Aid Society, by Mrs. George Baldwin, with appropriate remarks.

The tower and cone of the tower were presented by the missionary societies; the Women's Missionary Society, the tower and the Ruth Guild, the cone of the tower. Mrs. James Adair acted for the Guild and Mrs. Wm. H. Tilford for the society. The choir rendered a missionary hymn. The visitors present were welcomed by Mrs.

Paul D. Espey's class, Marjorie Jones and Estelle Blair, presenting small windows in the church, in recognition.

The door to the church was presented by the Ladies Bible Class, Mrs. H. H. Slagle, acting for the class.

A flag was presented by Scout Ralph Suesse and placed in a holder on the church, the junior department saluting the flag, and singing "America."

The steps were given by the primary department, two children putting them in place. Billy South and Dorothy Sheets, Mrs. James Wilson III, superintendent, indicated the "six steps into the church."

The final part in the building of the church was by the pastor, the Rev. William H. Tilford, who presented an illuminated cross for the church, which was symbolic of the "presence of Christ and for Christ." At the close of his remarks, the lights were turned on in the church and the cross and the door opened for entrance for service, while the bell in the miniature tower tolled the welcome message "Come to Church." Superintendent Jones closed the program with an invitation to all to make the Rally Day spirit, the spirit of the whole year.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

OUR SOUL'S DESIRE—Yea, in the way of thy judgments, O Lord, have we waited for thee; the desire of our soul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee.—Isa. 26:8.

READING MORE BOOKS

A New York university professor of English takes seriously the figures compiled by the Publishers' Weekly, showing that, while Denmark publishes annually more than 11 new books for every 10,000 of the population, the United States published only a little more than four-fifths of a book. He admits that we read magazines, but he remarks that "the utter insignificance of most magazine literature" is so obvious as to need no comment.

The reading habits of a people cannot be judged by the number of books published in a year. Nor can it be judged by the number of books they buy. The publishers in every country will insist that the people buy too few books. Those familiar with publication methods know that the reason many people do not buy certain books is that they have read them already or that they read good fiction in newspaper serials.

In spite of this English professor's jibe at the quality of magazine literature, a great many novels and historical, autobiographical and general works are published serially before they appear between the covers of a book. The experienced novelist seeks magazine publication because that assures to him a certain and definite financial return. The essayists likewise sell their writings to magazines and newspapers, and when they have written enough to fill a book they send the manuscript to a publisher. Economic studies of world trade are serialized and then issued in book form. Nearly all travel books appeared first in the magazines. The effect of this serial publication upon the sale of the books is said to be good. Readers interested in the serial sometimes postpone finishing it till it comes out in book form.

The habit of decrying magazine literature is of long standing, but there is less trash in the magazines and newspapers in proportion to their total content than there is in bound books.

GIGANTIC HIGHWAY PROGRAM

America's road building program this year involves an expenditure of $11 for every man, woman and child in the country. It is expected to reach the tremendous total of $1,360,025,776. Widening of old roads is an important feature, particularly the addition of shoulders on paved highways.

According to the American Automobile Association, this means that at the end of 1928 we will have more than 600,000 miles of surfaced highways. The federal aid system, consisting of 185,000 miles of important interstate trunk lines, will be about two-thirds completed.

Our highways are the arteries that give life to the nation. They take more money than almost any other item in the budget, and they pay it back more rapidly in social and industrial progress.

The Way of the World

By GROVE PATTERSON

THREATS

The three threats of modern life, says President McMahers, of Mt. Union, are leisure, science, and boredom. Everyone should have an intellectual enthusiasm. Everyone should be in the mood of continuing his education, even though he is 90 years old. Few things in life are more worth while than an intellectual enthusiasm. Leisure, without the mood and the desire for education is dangerous. The danger of science is that it will build up modern machinery faster than we know how to use it for human good. There is no excuse for boredom with life. If you are bored it is because your interests are too few. Your horizon is sadly limited. Your mind is partly closed. There are plenty of thrills left in life. There are the thrills of nature study, psychology, astronomy, philosophy, art, literature. No time for suicide yet.

DECEPTION

How often do we set out on the task of selling ourselves on some mistaken course of action! We are wonderful salesmen. We build up an elaborate and attractive argument to prove that what we have done or are about to do is quite the right thing. Better be quite plain, simple, and honest about it. Better say we made a mistake and try to do better next time, if it is something we have already done. If it is something we are about to do, and we are not willing to do otherwise, we might better go to it with our eyes open, ready to take the consequences, than to go to the trouble of trying to prove to ourselves that it is not a mistake.

SOBER

"America will be irresistible in economics if it remains sober," says Edison. Probably Mr. Edison was not speaking of prohibition. For this country to stay sober, economically speaking, is to use common sense and justice in its treatment of labor and in its business and social relationships. There is a great deal more to sobriety than merely the state of not being intoxicated.

DE-BUNKING

Books and plays which ridicule senseless tradition, which de-bunk society and its foibles, which lay bare the sources of hokum, which expose sham and hypocrisy, have great curative value in American public life. We need to be shown up for what we are. The unfortunate tendency of writers who go in for books and plays of that sort is that they are not always realistic. They distort and exaggerate. To make life and people appear sadder and worse than they are is to do no service to the public. Let us have realism that is real. It will do us good, but let it stop there.

OBSCURITY

Let us be thankful for the blessings of obscurity. In this republic there are few titles. Most of us can come and go without having any considerable number worry about it. No kings and queens. We do have a president, however, and his family. Poor John Coolidge can't go about his courting without having the world look on or at least be told about it. Most of us are permitted to enjoy a comfortable obscurity and we should be glad of it.

New Yorker

By CLARK KINNAIRD

NEW YORK—Society is getting spruced up for another wedding which will have royalty present—that of Miss Estelle R. Manville, of Pleasantville, N. Y., to Count Folke Bernadotte of Sweden. The ceremonies will take place December 1, at St. John's Episcopal church, Pleasantville. Following which there will be a reception at Hi-Esmaro, home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Manville.

The royalty? Oh, Prince Gustavus Adolphus, eldest son of the Swedish crown prince. The prospective heir to the throne, together with the bridegroom and his brother and sisters, will set sail November 17, from Gothenburg.

The prince, only 22, doesn't plan any doings beyond seeing a few sights in New York. He is scheduled to return to Sweden, December 8, on the maiden voyage of the new Swedish motor liner Kungsholm.

Mr. and Mrs. Manville and their daughter have just returned from Europe. Miss Manville selected her trousseau in Paris. And in Sweden the trio were entertained at the royal palace by the King of Sweden himself.

Yes, Miss Manville is an envied girl at the present moment.

Book dealers are complaining that unless fewer books are published good books won't get a chance. "It's this way," one of the largest book dealers told me, "by the time we get the sale of several good books under way, some publisher advertises a new list of the 'best books in the world.' As a matter of fact, the best books, because of lack of advertising or ballyhoo or something like that may be buried under tons of advertised rubbish."

Crossing the ocean remains a hazard. One liner arrived the other day with 35 persons injured in stormy weather during a tumultuous crossing. Another had 12 casualties.

Society folk of New York are keeping a weather eye on John Coolidge, working as a railroad clerk at New Haven, Conn., not far away. Well, John's latest activity is to join an employees' howling association.

Men rise to fame quickly in New York—when they have something new to give. Some years ago, a new writer on literary press was introduced to me. He had a unique style.

Today Walter Winchell is so widely quoted in the Big City that there's hardly a conversation among folk who know things that he isn't mentioned. It's considered a distinction to get into his column.

I was speaking with a man in close contact with him. And he says that Winchell always is desirous to prick himself with a pin to see whether it all isn't a dream.

A Barker for a show was in court at White Plains on some minor charge. The judge said the Barker could argue his case in regular Barker style, clamber upon the defendant, climb over a table and make his spiel. The charge was dismissed.

Kellygrams

By FRED C. KELLY

My impression is that grocers are probably as honest a lot of people as are to be found in business. There is an important reason for this. They deal largely with women. Only an honest man can long survive that! Women are the buyers for American homes, and they soon know when they are not getting a square deal. Once a woman is satisfied that her grocer looks after her interest when she gives him an order, you can scarcely drag her to another store.

KNOW HIS ATHLETES

Amusing evidence of the hold which the Olympic games laid upon the British public mind is furnished by this little yarn. A careless pedestrian, mooning in the Strand, found a bus bearing down upon him. By an inspired series of leaps and hops he gained the refuge of an island. The bus driver, having drawn up his vehicle, shook a reproving finger at the adventurer and said, "Nah then, Lord Burghley."

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—A strike threatens in the American diplomatic service—not in the ranks of our amateur diplomats, but of our professionals—the service's permanent backbone as it is intended to be.

The trouble is it wants to be too permanent. This will be a queer strike if it occurs. Instead of quitting, like dissatisfied toilers in other lines of industry, our professional diplomats propose to refuse to quit.

Originally all American diplomatic appointments were given by the administration in office to politicians it was under obligations to.

Big campaign contributors got the swivel embassy jobs. Posts as ministers, not quite so classy, went to more modest claimants. Still humbler party workers had to be contented with secretarial commissions—first, second, third and so on down.

When a new administration came in, all these functionsaries were expected to resign.

Other countries' diplomats, for generations, have been in the business for life. Naturally these professionals have run rings around our amateurs.

It has been a weakness in America's diplomatic system which, finally, even Washington began to recognize. Hence, in recent years, has grown up the custom of letting the secretaries hang on indefinitely.

At last they have become a pretty permanent corps—"career men" as they are known—professional diplomats, doing the

How to Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

HAIR GROOMING In these days, when a woman is judged so much by the condition and appearance of her hair, it is foolish, indeed, to imagine that one can rely upon a tight hat to hide defects in hair grooming. There is nothing more important to the ensemble of beauty than gleaming, lustrous hair, showing the effects of regular attention. It is impossible to discuss hair grooming without taking into consideration the fact that the appearance of one's hair is very dependent upon the good taste you show in selecting a coiffure. Many a woman has completely submerged her distinctive beauty through fixing her hair in current style without sufficient consideration of her features, head curves or type. There are a few standard rules which it might be worth your while to take into consideration. The first is, that the really beautiful coiffure, whether long or short, always shows the natural curve of the head. Another point worthy of consideration is that the modern vogue calls for simplicity. Elaborate curls or frizzy, wild-looking hair, is very much de trop. A woman with a large nose and receding forehead or chin must modify the sleek silhouette. If she subscribes to a close or mannish bob, all her bad points

Steak and Onions—Take at least eight or ten onions, peel and slice and fry until half done in butter or rendered oil. Then pour water over them, drain and set aside. Trim and cut or fold a two-pound porterhouse steak so that it will fit the size of your casserole. Wrap a string around the steak to hold it together, if steak is folded, and seal on all sides in butter or oil. Place the steak in the casserole, place the onion over the steak, season with salt and pepper. Put cover on the casserole, and set in a moderate oven for about an hour.

White Cake — One-half cup butter, one cup sugar, one cup milk, two cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder, pinch salt, three eggs whites. Cream butter and sugar together, add milk, then sifted flour with baking powder and salt added. Fold in whites of eggs which have been beaten until stiff. Bake in two layers.

Orange Filling — One-half cup water, three tablespoons sugar, one tablespoon cornstarch, three eggs yolks, juice one orange and little grated rind. Boil water, sugar, cornstarch, orange juice together in double boiler. When cooked, remove from fire and add egg yolks. When cake is cool, spread orange filling between layers and frost cake with layered icing.

curls on either side may be fluffed out very slightly. If your forehead is high, a flat curl may be becoming in the center, but this is usually too extreme to be really pretty. If you are tall, you cannot get away with the childish bob. In fact, the wisest thing for you to do will be to have the long bob skillfully shaped to resemble long hair. A very neatly waved bob is most becoming for a mature woman. The sleek cut requires beauty and youth.

Heads that are flat should, however, have a well-shaped head, the hair may be cropped very close. A point down the center of the back is becoming if your hair grows low on the nape of your neck, and will make a thin neck look slimmer. The heavy neck requires a curled line, and as a last 'salvation,' let me warn you that whether you are a beauty or not, there is one requirement for good hair grooming, and that is, a regular haircut every two or three weeks, and a complete absence of the ugly stubble on the back of the neck.

Feels "Like Another Woman" After Big Weight Reduction
Lost: One Hundred and Six Pounds.

No Reward for Return
My dear Dr. Peters: You will be interested to know that by following your rules for a year (August, 1927, to August, 1928), I have lost 106 pounds. I have found no difficulty in keeping my weight normal since that time—more than a year now. It is needless to say that I feel like another woman and life is altogether better for me in every way. MRS. M.

Ooee! What a whopping reduction. Thank you ever so much for letting us know of it, Mrs. M. You certainly deserve a lot of credit.

I thought at first it was the highest loss we had reported to us, but my secretary reminds me we have two reports of losses in the 130's.

I would like very much to know some details: Does overweight "run in your family" or much you weighed and your height; whether you followed the foundation diet pretty closely; whether you increased your exercises; any special thing you found helpful; etc., etc.

It will be interesting and comforting to those of our followers who are overweight to know that such an excess weight can be reduced, and still more comforting to know that it can stay reduced. It must be that your food tastes have entirely changed. Have they not?

The instructions on reducing which Mrs. M. followed are contained in a pamphlet which can be obtained by following column rules.

Is It Dangerous to Live Near Tuberculous Patients?

"Will you please advise if it is dangerous to live within 25 feet of a case of advanced tuberculosis? The party referred to is a neighbor of ours. A. N. You are in no danger, even though you lived with a patient. A. This is what Webb and Ryder, in their book, Recovery Record, have to say: "..... apply to children." Tuberculosis is due to the germ of tuberculosis planted on tissues that are non-resistant. The parasite of the sower has been used to express the relationship between the infection from tuberculosis and the human body.

Parable of the Sower
Some seeds fell by the wayside and the birds came and devoured them. (The germs do not get into the body, but are killed by the sun and sterilization.) Some seeds fell upon stony places. (The tissues are very resistant and the germs are destroyed.)

Others fell upon thorns and the thorns grew up and choked them. (The germs fell and grew, but the protective forces of the body walled them off and protected the system.)

But others fell on good ground, and yielded fruit, some a hundred-fold. (The germs fell where there was lowered resistance from some cause—most frequently from malnourishment, and Nature could not overcome them.)

He that hath ears, let him hear. Infectious germs, contrary to the opinion of many laymen, do not have wings or legs. They do not fly or jump at you, but are transferred directly by person to person through coughing, sneezing or kissing, or indirectly through foods or other articles which have been contaminated with them.

What To Do When Friend Wife Refuses To Talk To a Fellow?

What is a poor fellow to do when Friend Wife is interested only in her work and baby and ignores him? The wisecrackers will, of course, tell him to be thankful, for most women talk too much. But that doesn't help him at all. For he loves his wife and is lonely for the companionship she denies him. Here is his letter:

"Dear Mrs. Lee: I am a married man and wish to ask a little of your advice. I am very fond of my wife, but it surely looks to me as if she does not care for me. I have been married for two years and have a son two months old. My wife will never talk to me. All she thinks about is work. Even when I talk to her, most of the time she isn't paying any attention. I have been extra good to her to try to swing her to me, but it has done no good and I get very lonesome sitting around the house with no one to talk to. Can you tell me what I can do to make her at least friendly toward me? Doesn't it look to you as though she is not in love? I was in hopes she would change some time, but I have given up."

"LONESOME HUSBAND"
It very often happens that when a woman has a baby to care for she seems to lose her love for her husband. The baby is so small and helpless, and so dear, that it seems to occupy her whole time and attention. Can you be patient a while longer? Get a hobby of your own, such as stamp or coin collecting. Go out with your friends once in a while, and try to get her to go out once in a while while you stay with the baby. As the baby grows older she will feel the need of you more and will, I hope, show you that she still loves you. There is a portion of Louisa M. Alcott's pretty story of "Little Women," in which the author tells how the married sister, Margaret, neglected her husband, and how she was brought to a realization of it and reformed. You might get it at the library and give it to your wife to read, as a gentle hint.

Suggestions
Important Trifles
Don't dry woolen material that has just been dyed in a blast of hot air, as from a register, or it will shrink beyond repair.

Blue, green and black will never dye brown, nor can cardinal red be produced with material that originally was brown, purple, red or black.

Creases may be steamed out of woolen goods if they are not too deep by laying out the mark on cloth wrung out of hot water and running the point of the iron lightly over the line.

HAIL, SPIRIT OF THE RIVER

"Even if Purple and Green and Golden-Collar are my own brothers I am not sorry to see them leave," declared White-Coat, turning first to the right and then to the left to gaze after the departing birds. "I always did think more of them when they were not around. Perhaps if we three brothers did not see each other for a long, long time we would grow to love each other as brothers should. But you are a nice fellow, Red-Feathers; you and I have never had much trouble in getting along. What do you say? Shall we continue our journey over the path that leads straight ahead?"

"All we have to do is to follow our noses and keep our courage and we shall come out somewhere, and I haven't a bit of doubt that it will be a land where there are plenty of frogs and fat worms."

"M-m-m! That sounds good to me!" cried Red-Feathers. "I am ready to leave any time you are. The sooner we reach a country where there is plenty to eat and nobody to frighten with the better for us."

"So White-Coat and I Red-Feathers set sail, and they flew for just how long nobody knows, but the water in this river was at last they came to a river, not very deep—not nearly so deep as it had been in many of the streams over which they had flown. "Hi-m! This is queer," remarked White-Coat to Red-Feathers. "It can't have rained here for weeks. See how the trees are dried up, and the grass if it had been scorched, and do you notice how many of the stones are sticking up out of the water near the shore? What in the world are those Two-Legs doing over yonder?"

"White-Coat was pointing toward the land. Sure enough furnished by this little yarn. A river were many Two-Legs and they were making queer noises. Some of them were beating themselves upon their breasts and others were tearing their hair."

"Another crowd was singing and waving branches in the air. And as the birds watched, little Two-Legs came and scattered flowers upon the river crying: "Oh, Spirit of the Nile, be kind to us and stir up your waters until they overflow your banks and give your hungry, thirsty hands their food and drink. Do it quickly or we people of Egypt will perish. The Nile has no crops for us to gather, and we shall starve to death. Hail, oh, Spirit of the Nile! Only you can help us!"

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

OUR SOUL'S DESIRE—Yea, in the way of thy judgments, O Lord, have we waited for thee; the desire of our soul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee.—Isa. 26:8.

READING MORE BOOKS

A New York university professor of English takes seriously the figures compiled by the Publishers' Weekly, showing that, while Denmark publishes annually more than 11 new books for every 10,000 of the population, the United States published only a little more than four-fifths of a book. He admits that we read magazines, but he remarks that "the utter insignificance of most magazine 'literature' is so obvious as to need no comment."

The reading habits of a people cannot be judged by the number of books published in a year. Nor can it be judged by the number of books they buy. The publishers in every country will insist that the people buy too few books. Those familiar with publication methods know that the reason many people do not buy certain books is that they have read them already or that they read good fiction in newspaper serials.

In spite of this English professor's jibe at the quality of magazine literature, a great many novels and historical, autobiographical and general works are published serially before they appear between the covers of a book. The experienced novelist seeks magazine publication because that assures to him a certain and definite financial return. The essayists likewise sell their writings to magazines and newspapers, and when they have written enough to fill a book they send the manuscript to a publisher. Economic studies of world trade are serialized and then issued in book form. Nearly all travel books appeared first in the magazines. The effect of this serial publication upon the sale of the books is said to be good. Readers interested in the serial sometimes postpone finishing it till it comes out in book form.

The habit of decrying magazine literature is of long standing, but there is less trash in the magazines and newspapers in proportion to their total content than there is in bound books.

GIGANTIC HIGHWAY PROGRAM

America's road building program this year involves an expenditure of $11 for every man, woman and child in the country. It is expected to reach the tremendous total of $1,360,025,776. Widening of old roads is an important feature, particularly the addition of shoulders on paved highways.

According to the American Automobile Association, this means that at the end of 1928 we will have more than 600,000 miles of surfaced highways. The federal aid system, consisting of 185,000 miles of important interstate trunk lines, will be about two-thirds completed.

Our highways are the arteries that give life to the nation. They take more money than almost any other item in the budget, and they pay it back more rapidly in social and industrial progress.

THREATS

The three threats of modern life, says President McMasters, of Mt. Union college, are leisure, science, and boredom. Everyone should have an intellectual enthusiasm. Everyone should be in the mood of continuing his education, even though he is 90 years old. Few things in life are more worth while than an intellectual enthusiasm. Leisure, without the mood and the desire for education is dangerous. The danger of science is that it will build up modern machinery faster than we know how to use it for human good. There is no excuse for boredom with life. If you are bored it is because your interests are too few. Your horizon is sadly limited. Your mind is partly closed. There are plenty of thrills left in life. There are the thrills of nature study, psychology, astronomy, philosophy, art, literature. No time for suicide yet.

DECEPTION

How often do we set out on the task of selling ourselves on some mistaken course of action? We are wonderful salesmen. We build up an elaborate and attractive argument to prove that what we have done or are about to do is quite the right thing. Better be quite plain, simple, and honest about it. Better say we made a mistake and try to do better next time, if it is something we have already done. If it is something we are about to do, and we are not willing to do otherwise, we might better go into it with our eyes open, ready to take the consequences, than go to the trouble of trying to prove to ourselves that it is not a mistake.

SOBER

"America will be irresistible in economics if it remains sober," says Edison. Probably Mr. Edison was not speaking of prohibition. For this country to stay sober, economically speaking, is to use common sense and justice in its treatment of labor and in its business and social relationships. There is a great deal more to sobriety than merely the state of not being intoxicated.

DE-BUNKING

Books and plays which ridicule senseless tradition, which de-bunk society and its foibles, which lay bare the sources of hokum, which expose sham and hypocrisy, have great curative value in American public life. We need to be shown up for what we are. The unfortunate tendency of writers who go in for books and plays of that sort is that they are not always realistic. They distort and exaggerate. To make life and people appear sadder and worse than they are is to do no service to the public. Let us have realism that is real. It will do us good, but let it stop there.

OBSCURITY

Let us be thankful for the blessings of obscurity. In this republic there are few titles. Most of us can come and go without having any considerable number worry about it. No kings and queens. We do have a president, however, and his family. Poor John Coolidge can't get about his courting without having the world look on or at least be told about it. Most of us are permitted to enjoy a comfortable obscurity and we should be glad of it.

NEW YORK—Society is getting spruced up for another wedding which will have royalty present—that of Miss Estelle R. Manville, of Pleasantville, N. Y., to Count Folke Bernadotte of Sweden. The ceremonies will take place December 1, at St. John's Episcopal church, Pleasantville. Following which there will be a reception at H. Esmer, home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Manville.

The royalty? Oh, Prince Gustavus Adolphus, eldest son of the Swedish crown prince. The prospective heir to the throne, together with the bridegroom and his brother and sisters, will set sail November 17, from Gothenburg.

The prince, only 22, doesn't plan any doings beyond seeing a few sights in New York. He is scheduled to return to Sweden, December 8, on the maiden voyage of the new Swedish motor liner Kungsholm.

Mr. and Mrs. Manville and their daughter have just returned from Europe. Miss Manville selected her trousseau in Paris. And in Sweden the trio were entertained at the royal palace by the King of Sweden himself.

Yes, Miss Manville is an envied girl at the present moment.

Book dealers are complaining that unless fewer books are published good books won't get a chance. "It's this way," one of the largest book dealers told me, "by the time we get the sale of several good books under way, some publisher advertises a new list of the 'best books in the world.' As a matter of fact, the best books, because of lack of advertising or ballyhoo or something like that may be buried under tons of advertised rubbish."

Crossing the ocean remains a hazard. One liner arrived the other day with 35 persons injured in stormy weather during a tumultuous crossing. Another had 12 casualties.

Society folk of New York are keeping a weather eye on John Coolidge, working as a railroad clerk at New Haven, Conn., not far away. Well, John's latest activity is to join an employees' bowling association.

Men rise to fame quickly in New York—when they have something new to give. Some years ago, a new writer literally was pressed into service on a new little paper in New York. He had a unique style.

Today Walter Winchell is so widely quoted in the Big City that there's hardly a conversation among folk who know things that he isn't mentioned. It's considered a distinction to get into his column.

I was speaking with a man in close contact with him. And he says that Winchell always is desiring to prick himself with a pin to see whether it all isn't a dream.

My impression is that grocers are probably as honest a lot of people as are to be found in business. There is an important reason for this. They deal largely with women. Only an honest man can long survive that! Women are the buyers for American homes, and they soon know when they are not getting a square deal. Once a woman is satisfied that her grocer looks after her interest when she gives him an order, you can scarcely drag her to another store.

WASHINGTON.—A strike real work of our embassies and threatens in the American diplomatic service—not in the ranks of our amateur diplomats, but of our professionals—the service's permanent backbone as it is intended to be.

The trouble is it wants to be too permanent. This will be a queer strike if it occurs. Instead of quitting, like dissatisfied toilers in other lines of industry, our professional diplomats propose to refuse to quit.

Originally all American diplomatic appointments were given by the administration in office to politicians it was under obligations to.

Big campaign contributors got the swell embassy jobs. Posts as ministers, not quite so classy, went to more modest claimants. Still humbler party workers had to be contented with secretarial commissions—first, second, third and so on down.

When a new administration came in, all these functionaries were expected to resign.

Other countries' diplomats, for generations, have been in the business for life. Naturally these professionals have run rings around our amateurs.

It has been a weakness in America's diplomatic system which, finally, even Washington began to recognize.

Hence, in recent years, has grown up the custom of letting the secretaries hang on indefinitely.

At last they have become a pretty permanent corps—"career men," as they are known—professional diplomats, doing the

How to Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

HAIR GROOMING

In these days, when a woman is judged so much by the condition and appearance of her hair, it is foolish, indeed, to imagine that one can rely upon a tight hat to hide defects in hair grooming. There is nothing more important to the ensemble of beauty than grooming, lustrous hair, showing the effects of regular attention.

It is impossible to discuss hair grooming without taking into consideration the fact that the appearance of one's hair is very dependent upon the good taste you show in selecting a coiffure. Many a woman has completely submerged her distinctive beauty through fixing her hair in current style without sufficient consideration of her features, head curves or type. There are a few standard rules which might be worth your while to take into consideration. The first is, that the really beautiful coiffure, whether long or short, always shows the natural curve of the head. Another point worthy of consideration is that the modern vogue calls for simplicity. Elaborate curls or frizzy wild-looking hair is very much de trop.

A woman with a large nose and receding forehead or chin must modify the sleek silhouette. If she subscribes to a close or mannish bob, all her bad points are going to be greatly accentuated. Should her hair be long, a very becoming style would be for her to coil the hair far down on the neck, thus balancing the large nose and receding chin. While bangs are not very much the vogue this season, nevertheless it is a simple fact that a curled under bang will make the brow seem straight, thus minimizing a bad line at the forehead. If you have any particularly ugly feature, you must avoid the straight hair comb. That is only pretty when there is delicate chiseling, a small face or a general air of delicacy or a feeling of sophistication to the features. Middle parts make the face look very large and enlarge the appearance of the features. The shingled coiffure is only becoming if you have a small and pretty nose. If your eyes are close set, be sure that you have a side parting.

In creating a coiffure, consider always not the front view, but the side and back as well. If you have bobbed hair, the following hints may help you in choosing a becoming bob. If you have a short and pretty neck, the close shingle will suit you. If your neck is long and thin, do not have your hair cut short. A wide face requires a close hair comb, and well set waves. If the face is long and thin, the

Here is a new way of cooking the succulent beef steak and onions. These onions are not at all greasy and will be very tender. The recipe is for four people.

Today's Recipes.

Steak and Onions—Take at least eight or ten onions, peel and slice and fry until half done in butter or rendered out suet. Then pour two or three cups of boiling water over them, drain the onions, trim and cut or fold a two-pound porterhouse steak so that it will fit the size of your casserole. Wrap a string around the steak to hold it together, if steak is folded, and sear on all sides in butter or oil dripping. Pour the fat left in the frying pan into the casserole, place the steak in the casserole, place the onions over the steak, season with salt and pepper. Put cover on the casserole, and set in a moderate oven for about an hour.

White Cake—One-half cup butter, one cup sugar, one cup milk, two cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder, pinch salt, three eggs whites. Cream butter and sugar together, add milk, then sifted flour with baking powder and salt added. Fold in whites of eggs which have been beaten until stiff. Bake in two layers.

Orange Filling—One-half cup water, three tablespoons sugar, one tablespoon cornstarch, three egg yolks, juice one orange and little grated rind. Boil water, sugar, cornstarch, orange juice together in double boiler. When cooked, remove from fire and add egg yolks. When cake is cool, spread orange filling between layers and frost cake with boiled icing.

Can you tell me what I can do to make her at least friendly toward me? Doesn't it look to you as though she is not in love? I was in hopes she would change some time, but I have given up."

"A LONESOME HUSBAND."

It very often happens that when a woman has a baby to care for she seems to lose her love for her husband. The baby is so small and helpless, and so dear, that it seems to occupy her whole time and attention. Can you be patient a while longer? Get a hobby of your own, such as stamp or coin collecting. Get out with your men friends once in a while, and try to get her to go out once in a while while you stay with the baby. As the baby grows older she will feel the need of you more and will, I hope, show you that she still loves you. There is a portion of Louisa M. Alcott's pretty story of "Little Women," in which the author tells how the married sister, Margaret, neglected her husband after the twins were born, and how she was brought to a realization of it and reformed. You might get it at the library and give it to your wife to read, as a gentle hint.

Suggestions
Important Trifles
Don't dry woolen material that has just been dyed in a blast of hot air, as from a register, or it will shrink beyond repair.

Blue, green and black will never dry brown, nor can cardinal red be produced with material that originally was brown, purple, red or black.

Creases may be steamed out of woolen goods if they are not too deep by laying over the mark a cloth wrung out of hot water and running the point of the iron lightly over the line.

Peter's Adventure

By MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

HAIL, SPIRIT OF THE RIVER

"Red-Feathers! Purple-Grogs! Golden-Collars are my own brothers I am not sorry to see them leave," declared White-Coat, turning first to the right and then to the left to gaze after the departing birds. "I always did think more of them when they were not around. Perhaps if we three brothers did not see each other for a long, long time we would grow to love each other as brothers should. But you are a nice fellow, Red-Feathers; you and I have never had much trouble in getting along. What do you say? Shall we continue our journey over the path that leads straight ahead?"

"All we have to do is to follow our noses and keep up our courage and we shall come out somewhere, that is one thing sure and I haven't a bit of doubt that it will be a land where there are plenty of frogs and fat worms."

"M-m-m! That sounds good to me!" cried Red-Feathers. "I am ready to leave any time you are. The sooner we reach a country where there is plenty to eat and nobody to fright with, the better for us."

"So White-Coat and Red-Feathers set sail, and they flew for just how long nobody knows, but the water in this river was at last they came to a river, not very deep, not nearly so deep as it had been in many of the streams over which they had flown. "Hi-m! This is queer," remarked White-Coat to Red-Feathers. "It can't have rained here for weeks. See how the trees are dried up, and the grass if it had been scorched; and do—what there is of it—looks as you notice, many of the stones are sticking up out of the water near the shore? What in the world are those Two-Legs doing over yonder?"

"White-Coat was pointing toward the land. Sure enough furnished by this little yarn. A river were many Two-Legs and they were making queer noises. Some of them were beating themselves upon their breasts and others were tearing their hair."

"Another crowd was singing and waving branches in the air. And as the birds watched, Little Two-Legs came and scattered flowers upon the river crying: "Oh, Spirit of the Nile, be kind to us and stir up your waters until they overflow your banks and give your hungry, thirsty lands their food and drink. Do it quickly or we people of Egypt will perish. There will be no crops for us to gather for just how long nobody knows, but the water in this river was at last they came to a river, not very deep, not nearly so deep as it had been in many of

Langs Beat Fuels 12-7 With Last-Quarter Attack

ANDERSON'S BALL-HAWKING GIVES LOCALS SCORING BREAK

Recovered Fumbles And Snappy Pass Earn Victory For Chevrolets; Visitors Score Early; McCoy Is Injured.

COMING from behind in the last quarter, the Lang Chevrolets won their second game of the season by overpowering the Avondale Fuels of Dayton 12 to 7 in a thrilling football struggle Sunday afternoon at Cincinnati Ave. Park.

The Dayton eleven, one of the scrappiest teams to appear here this season, displayed an excellent offensive and defensive and although considerably outweighted, outplayed the Lang team in every period of the game except the final quarter when the "breaks" went against the visitors.

Dayton scored its touchdown in the first four minutes of play, culminating a seventy-yard march from its own thirty-yard line. After receiving Smith's kickoff, Brest ripped off ten yards and first down in two stabs at the line. A fifteen-yard penalty advanced the ball to the Xenia forty-five-yard line. Then Echart completed a pass to Fisher for a thirty-yard gain, putting the ball on the Xenia fifteen.

Three line plays netted another first down and on the next play Brest plunged across for a touchdown. Fisher drop-kicked the extra point.

Xenia never really threatened the visitors' goal line in the opening period. The local eleven once advanced the ball to the Dayton twenty-five-yard stripe but lost possession on downs. Xenia made one first down in this period.

Xenia counted another first down in the second period, which developed into a punting duel between Fred Smith of Xenia and Echart for Dayton, with neither kicking having a decided advantage. Xenia trailed 7 to 0 at the half.

Xenia threatened often to score in the third quarter but could not quite make the grade. Opening the third period, Xenia took the ball on Dayton's forty and immediately scored off a first down. However, the next three plays failed to gain and Xenia was forced to punt. Dayton likewise found its offensive stopped and a punt was returned by McCoy to Dayton's thirty-five. Once more Langs lost the ball on downs.

Two successive Dayton first downs carried the ball to midfield. Failing to advance further, Echart dropped back to punt but Anderson broke through, blocked the kick, recovered the ball and ran

Clark University nosed out Tuskegee 13 to 9 Saturday while Howard University defeated Morehouse of Atlanta, Ga., 7 to 0.

PUNTS AND PASSES

By PHIL FRAME

Fourteen winners, four losers and three ties was the record of Walker Gibney, 610 N. Galloway St., in his predictions of the outcome of twenty-one major football games over the week end. This gave him a percentage of .777.

To date, over a span of three weeks, Xenia fans have correctly guessed the result of thirty-eight games, missed out on twelve contests while four ended in ties, for a grand percentage of .760, which is not to be sneezed at in these days of football upsets.

Football games scheduled for the coming week-end will be made the basis of selections by another Xenia fan for The Gazette, to be announced Thursday.

Following are Gibney's winning selections:

Oberlin beat Case 15 to 6.

GRID CAPTAINS

HAROLD BAYSINGER
SYRACUSE

Harold Baysinger, of Syracuse, was ranked as one of the smartest quarterbacks in the east last fall. A triple-threat man, he excelled in passing, having heaved practically all of the forwards for his team. In the Nebraska game alone he completed eleven passes, although his team was greatly outclassed. He holds a leading position in the matter of punting, and as a runner he can wriggle through an open field after the manner of a Harlequin.

He is captain of the Orange team this year.

Ritticisms

BY BILL RITT

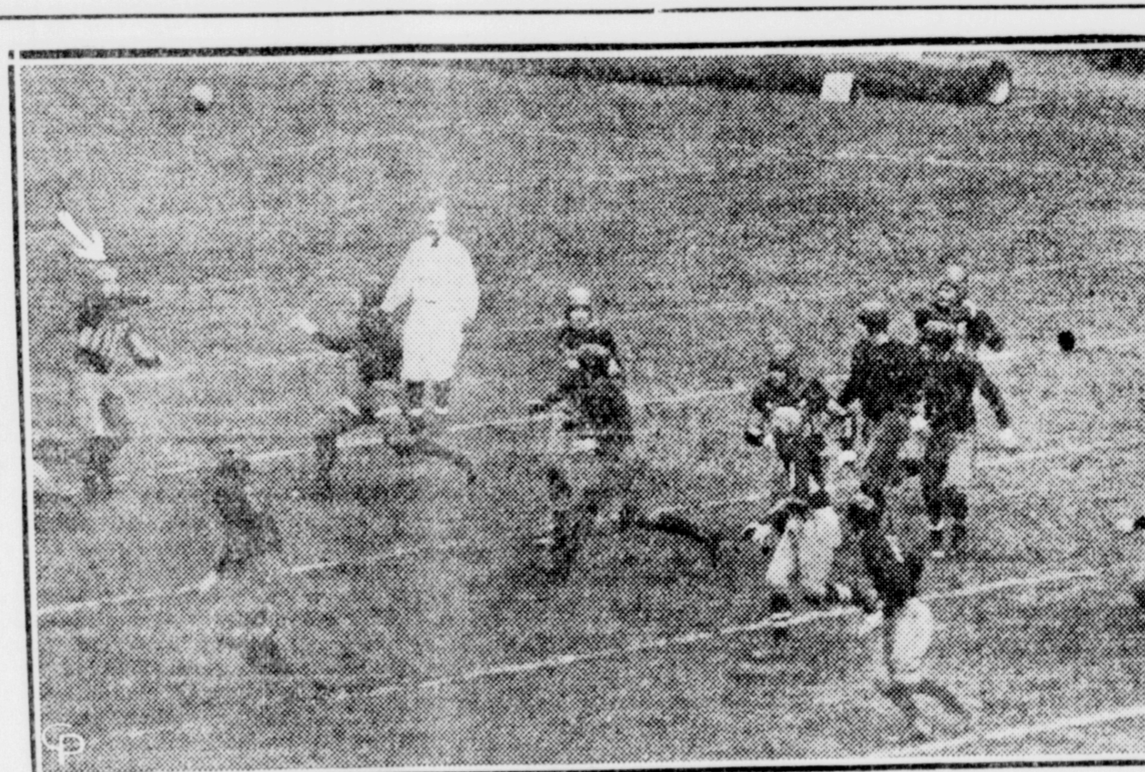

From the standpoint of the Braves there was only one thing wrong with the "Chicago Cubs" of $200,000 for Rogers Hornsby. That was that it wasn't $400,000.

The Braves took one look at the $200,000 and laughed themselves sick in nine different languages, including the razzberry.

BEARS DEFEATED

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—The Green Bay Packers defeated the Chicago Bears, 16 to 6, in a national professional football league game here yesterday.

BUCKEYES BREAK JINX TO BEAT MICHIGAN

For the first time in seven years Ohio State University trounced Michigan, 19 to 7, before a crowd of 73,000 spectators at Columbus, O. Alan Holman, Ohio quarterback, is shown tossing a pass to Wes Fessler, end, who ran to Ohio's first touchdown in the first quarter. Arrows point to Holman and Fessler.

CENTRAL GRIDDERS HOPING FOR VICTORY IN MIAMISBURG GAME

Xenia Central High School's football team is looking forward optimistically to a Miami Valley High School League victory when Miamisburg appears here for the second league game of the season Friday afternoon.

Miamisburg has proved the league "doormat" so far this season, losing both of its two league encounters, and Xenia hopes to use the Burger team as a stepping stone toward the league championship.

When Xenia and Miamisburg meet Friday the two schools will be renewing football relations after a lapse of seven years. They have met twice on the gridiron, Xenia winning both contests. Central defeated Miamisburg 19 to 7 in 1920 and 20 to 0 in 1921.

If a comparison of scores means anything, Xenia appears to be at least twenty-four points better than the Burgers. It's this way: Sidney beat Miamisburg 21 to 7, Piqua beat Sidney 16 to 6 and Xenia played Piqua to a scoreless tie.

LET'S NICKNAME CENTRAL HIGH TEAMS! WINNER GETS TICKETS

Good at nicknames? Here's your chance.

Everyone is eligible to take part. Step right up folks and get on your "Thinking Caps." This is an opportunity to win a season ticket for the remainder of the home football games on Xenia Central High School's schedule and also a ticket for the home basketball games for the 1928-29 season.

This is a contest, and a real one. All you have to do is pick a nickname for Xenia Central High School athletic teams and explain in as few words as possible why you think your choice is appropriate.

Xenia High football and basketball teams have long been without a nickname. Ohio Wesleyan has its "Batling Bishops," Dayton its "Flyers," Dayton Steele its "Lions." What shall Central teams be called?

You may send in as many nicknames as you wish—there are no restrictions.

The contest opens immediately and closes Saturday, October 27. So get busy and you may win a couple of season tickets.

Just address your communications to the sporting department of The Gazette.

A committee of five judges has been named to determine the winner. This committee is composed of Louis Hammerle, superintendent of schools; F. R. Woodruff, principal of Central High School; Coach Walter L. Wilson, James Adair, president of the board of education, and a member of the high school football team to be appointed by Coach Wilson.

BUSINESS AT PEAK WHITING CLAIMS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Business in the U. S. is now "at the highest level in history," with the single exception of the textile industry, Secretary of Commerce Whiting said today in a press conference.

Reports to the department reflect prosperous conditions in the automobile, steel building and other leading industries, he said.

Check payments, he added, were the highest on record in the week just closed.

COOPER WILL SPEAK AT WILBERFORCE U.

Wilberforce University has been included in the itinerary of Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, Republican standard bearer for governor, who will speak before the faculty and students during chapel hour at Jones Auditorium, Tuesday, October 23 at 10 a. m.

As he is scheduled to give an address at London on the same day, Mr. Cooper decided to stop at Wilberforce enroute to that place and talk to the students. He will be accompanied by a large delegation.

GREENVILLE AND PIQUA TIED IN GRID LOOP

Piqua High School went into a first-place tie with Greenville in the Miami Valley High School League as a result of a victory over hitherto undefeated Sidney, 16 to 6, last Friday. Each leading team has won one game and lost none, although Piqua's clean slate is marred by a scoreless tie with Xenia.

Troy High won its first league game Saturday, defeating Miamisburg 12 to 6. Xenia and Greenville played non-league games over the week end.

In league games schedule this week, Xenia entertains the "underdog," Miamisburg, here Friday, while Greenville is scheduled to play Piqua at Piqua Saturday. Sidney and Troy are not scheduled for league contests.

The league standing follows:

Team	Won	Lost	Tied	Pct.
Greenville	1	0	0	1.000
Piqua	1	0	1	1.000
Sidney	1	1	1	.500
Troy	1	1	1	.500
Xenia	0	0	1	.000
Miamisburg	0	2	0	.000

Langs Beat Fuels 12-7 With Last-Quarter Attack

ANDERSON'S BALL-HAWKING GIVES LOCALS SCORING BREAK

Recovered Fumbles And Snappy Pass Earn Victory For Chevrolets; Visitors Score Early; McCoy Is Injured.

COMING from behind in the last quarter, the Lang Chevrolets won their second game of the season by overpowering the Avondale Fuels of Dayton 12 to 7 in a thrilling football struggle Sunday afternoon at Cincinnati Ave. Park.

The Dayton eleven, one of the scrappiest teams to appear here this season, displayed an excellent offensive and defensive and although considerably outplayed, outplayed the Lang team in every period of the game except the final quarter when the "breaks" went against the visitors.

Dayton scored its touchdown in the first four minutes of play, culminating a seventy-yard march from its own thirty-yard line. After receiving Smith's kickoff, Brest ripped off ten yards and first down in two stabs at the line. A fifteen-yard penalty advanced the ball to the Xenia forty-five-yard line. Then Echart completed a pass to Fisher for a thirty-yard gain, putting the ball on the Xenia fifteen.

Three line plays netted another first down and the next play Brest plunged across for a touchdown. Fisher drop-kicked the extra point.

Xenia never really threatened the visitors' goal line in the opening period. The local eleven once advanced the ball to the Dayton twenty-five-yard stripe but lost possession on downs. Xenia made one first down in this period.

Xenia counted another first down in the second period, which developed into a punting duel between Fred Smith of Xenia and Echart for Dayton, with neither kicker having a decided advantage. Xenia trailed 7 to 0 at the half.

Xenia threatened often to score in the third quarter but could not quite make the grade. Opening the third period, Xenia took the ball on Dayton's forty and immediately yielded off a first down. However, the next three plays failed to gain and Xenia was forced to punt. Dayton likewise found its offensive stopped and a punt was returned by McCoy to Dayton's thirty-five. Once more Langs lost the ball on downs.

Two successive Dayton first downs carried the ball to midfield. Falling to advance further, Echart dropped back to punt but Anderson broke through, blocked the kick, recovered the ball and ran Wilberforce will travel to Tuskegee, Ala. for another inter-sectional struggle with Tuskegee Institute Saturday, October 27.

Clark University nosed out Tuskegee 13 to 9 Saturday while Howard University defeated Morehouse of Atlanta, Ga., 7 to 0.

ACTORS PORTRAY LIFE OF NOMINEE

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The life of Gov. Alfred E. Smith, from the time he began to sell newspapers in the Bowery until he was nominated by the Democratic convention at Houston, was carried to thousands of radio listeners in dramatized form last night.

An all-star Broadway cast, gathered about the microphone of WBAC, read the play which Fulton Oursler, dramatist, wrote from the biography—"Up From the City Streets." The cast included Helen Hayes, William Boyd, Rosamond Pinchoff, Peggy Wood and Roger Pryor, with Heywood Brown acting as announcer.

CENTRAL GRIDDE RS HOPING FOR VICTORY IN MIAMISBURG GAME

Xenia Central High School's football team is looking forward optimistically to a Miami Valley High School League victory when Miamisburg appears here for the second league game of the season Friday afternoon.

Miamisburg has proved the league "doormat" so far this season, losing both of its two league encounters, and Xenia hopes to use the Burger team as a stepping stone toward the league championship.

When Xenia and Miamisburg meet Friday the two schools will be renewing football relations after a lapse of seven years. They have met twice on the gridiron, Xenia winning both contests. Central defeated Miamisburg 19 to 7 in 1929 and 20 to 0 in 1921.

If a comparison of scores means anything, Xenia appears to be at least twenty-four points better than the Burgers. It's this way. Sidney beat Miamisburg 21 to 7. Piqua beat Sidney 16 to 4 and Xenia played Piqua to a scoreless tie.

In league games schedule this week, Xenia entertains the "underdog," Miamisburg, here Friday, while Greenville is scheduled to play Piqua at Piqua Saturday. Sidney and Troy are not scheduled for league contests.

The league standing follows:

Team ..... Won ..... Lost ..... Tied ..... Pct.

Greenville ..... 1 ..... 0 ..... 0 ..... 1.000

Piqua ..... 1 ..... 0 ..... 1 ..... 1.000

Sidney ..... 1 ..... 1 ..... 1 ..... .500

Troy ..... 1 ..... 1 ..... 1 ..... .500

Xenia ..... 0 ..... 0 ..... 1 ..... .000

Miamisburg ..... 0 ..... 2 ..... 0 ..... .000

A committee of five judges has been named to determine the winner. This committee is composed of Louis Hammer, superintendent of schools; F. R. Woodruff, principal of Central High School; Coach Walter L. Wilson, James Adair, president of the board of education, and a member of the high school football team to be appointed by Coach Wilson.

AUTO RECOVERED IN MUNCIE; TWO HELD

Confessions that they stole an automobile belonging to Lawrence Luttrell, E. Market St., last Sunday night and also stole a car at Muncie, have been obtained from two boys under arrest at Muncie, Ind., according to a telephone message received Sunday by Police Chief M. E. Graham.

The Luttrell coupe was recovered when the youths were arrested, but the owner, who went to Muncie to recover the machine found it almost a total wreck. Appearances indicated the car has possibly crashed into a pole and had overturned. The car was found by police abandoned on a railroad track.

The Indiana auto, a Chevrolet coupe, which was abandoned on a road west of Xenia, is being held by police. The boys said they stole the coupe at Muncie, drove to Xenia, abandoned the machine and then stole the Luttrell car in which they returned to Muncie. The coupe was also damaged.

BUSINESS AT PEAK WHITING CLAIMS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Business in the U. S. is now "at the highest level in history, with the single exception of the textile industry, Secretary of Commerce Whiting said today in a press conference.

Reports to the department reflect prosperous conditions in the automobile, steel building and other leading industries, he said.

Check payments, he added, were the highest on record in the week just closed.

COOPER WILL SPEAK AT WILBERFORCE U.

Wilberforce University has been included in the itinerary of Myers V. Cooper, Cincinnati, Republican standard bearer for governor, who will speak before the faculty and students during chapel hour at Jones Auditorium, Tuesday, October 23 at 10 a. m.

As he is scheduled to give an address at London on the same day, Mr. Cooper decided to stop at Wilberforce enroute to that place and talk to the students. He will be accompanied by a large delegation.

GREENVILLE AND PIQUA TIED IN GRID LOOP

Piqua High School went into a first-place tie with Greenville in the Miami Valley High School League as a result of a victory over hitherto undefeated Sidney, 16 to 4, last Friday. Each leading team has won one game and lost none, although Piqua's clean slate is marred by a scoreless tie with Xenia.

Troy High won its first league game Saturday, defeating Miamisburg 12 to 6. Xenia and Greenville played non-league games over the week end.

In league games schedule this week, Xenia entertains the "underdog," Miamisburg, here Friday, while Greenville is scheduled to play Piqua at Piqua Saturday. Sidney and Troy are not scheduled for league contests.

The league standing follows:

Team ..... Won ..... Lost ..... Tied ..... Pct.

PHOTOGRAPH FRAUD OPERATED IN XENIA OHIO CHAMBER SAYS

A new fraud is being operated in a number of Ohio cities which has as its base the taking of photographs and retouching them with all tints, according to an announcement by the Ohio Chamber of Commerce. This fraud has been operated at least in Xenia, Springfield and Zanesville.

A man of rather short stature and talking with a foreign accent, and using several different names, has been calling on a select class of people to take their photographs. He has some beautiful samples of photographic work, including the oil tinting. In cases where orders have been given without payment of money, the pictures have been delivered. However, in many cases he is alleged to have obtained payment for the pictures in advance, stating that he can thus give the customer a cash discount.

A diligent investigation has failed to reveal any case where delivery of pictures has been made when the money was paid in advance, the chamber says. The shorter man has a business associate who is considerably taller, is a good talker and whose principal duty seems to be the delivery of the pictures and the collection of them in cases where the money has not been paid in advance.

However, in many cases he is alleged to have obtained payment for the pictures in advance, stating that he can thus give the customer a cash discount.

PHOTOGRAPH FRAUD OPERATED IN XENIA OHIO CHAMBER SAYS
A new fraud is being operated in a number of Ohio cities which has as its base the taking of photographs and retouching them with all tints, according to an announcement by the Ohio Chamber of Commerce. This fraud has been operated at least in Xenia, Springfield and Zanesville.

A man of rather short stature and talking with a foreign accent, and using several different names, has been calling on a select class of people to take their photographs. He has some beautiful samples of photographic work, including the oil tinting. In cases where orders have been given without payment of money, the pictures have been delivered. However, in many cases he is alleged to have obtained payment for the pictures in advance, stating that he can thus give the customer a cash discount.

A diligent investigation has failed to reveal any case where delivery of pictures has been made when the money was paid in advance, the chamber says. The shorter man has a business associate who is considerably taller, is a good talker and whose principal duty seems to be the delivery of the pictures and the collection of them in cases where the money has not been paid in advance.

EDUCATOR TO SPEAK TO TEACHERS HERE
Dr. J. V. McMullen, acting dean of Miami University and Dr. W. S. Gayler, of the department of education of the same school, will address an open meeting of teachers and superintendents of the county at the Court House, Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

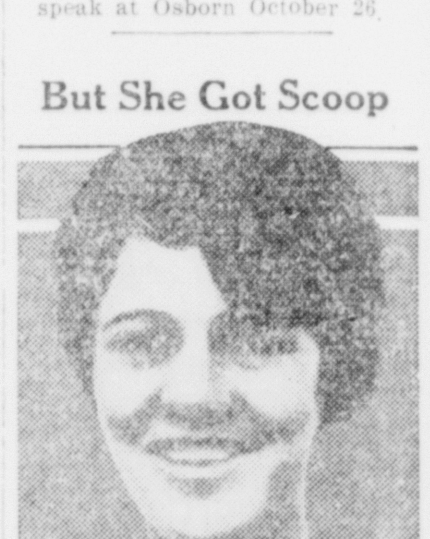

The meeting will be preliminary to a survey and test work in the county, to be followed by a definite plan of remedial instruction both in the grades and high school.

Emmy Milburn, at seventeen, wanted to get out of the dreariness of the little street she lived in, to the heights where she felt she properly belonged. After a party given by her rich cousin, Marianna, she resolved to better herself some day. Meantime she took a business course, paid for by her Grandmother Pentland, and snubbed, as well as she could, Bobo Hollis, the boy down the street, who worked in a mill, and who represented the life she determined never to let herself sink into.

Marianna tells Emmy she is going to marry Jim Baldwin next day, and to keep it secret. Emmy succeeds in getting a stenographic job—her first position—and is immensely pleased that she will receive twenty-two dollars a week. She figures it will only be a little time before she can get an apartment of her own and leave Flower Street forever.

Since Uncle Bill Parks died Mrs. Milburn has been stopping in to see Grandmother Pentland a while each evening. Emmy tells her mother "You should worry about her—she has plenty of money."

Emmy finally saves up enough money to rent an apartment of her own.

Lovey, Emmy's sister-in-law, tells her she has heard of Wells Harbison, Emmy's employer. She believes he married an old school friend of hers.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXX
Emmy noticed that the lines across her mother's forehead and at the corners of her gentle mouth looked deeper than usual. Evidently the conference in the kitchen had not been along pleasant lines.

"We were talking about you, my dear," Mrs. Milburn said, and put her arm around Lovey's silk-covered shoulders.

But Lovey drew away from her. She shot an accusing glance at her young husband. "You've been telling her about last night!"

Perry shook his head, but she paid not the slightest bit of attention to him. Her eyes were on Mrs. Milburn now.

"He told you about our quarrel, didn't he?" she asked, and all the pale blond beauty in her face went down before the fury that came into it.

"Parading our private disagreements in front of everybody—" she was beginning again in a tone of high scorn when Mrs. Milburn stopped her.

Her soft voice drowned out Lovey's shrill angry one: "He did nothing of the kind, Lovey! He's been telling me that he wished you'd leave your father's house and go into a little home of your own somewhere. He's been asking me to use my influence with you. Lovey, don't you think perhaps you'd both be happier if you did have a place of your own?"

Lovey's eyebrows all but disappeared under the stiff waves of her hair. "And do my own work, and sit and darn socks at night while Perry gets out his drawing pencil and forgets I'm alive?" she asked. "Oh, no! Not while I can stay with my father and mother. I can play three-hand bridge with them at night anyway, to keep from going crazy with loneliness!"

Perry, leaning against the old walnut sideboard, was frowning perplexedly. "Lovey, we went to three parties last week," he said mildly, "and you know I'm doing my best to learn bridge. But it makes me feel lonely to live with your mother and father. I like to pay my way, and your way now that we're married, dear."

"Well, you'll never be able to do it on sixty dollars a week!" his wife told him airily. "So you'd better pass up your work of art and try to make some real money with my father!"

A dark lightning spread over Perry's face. "I work nine hours a day for your father," he said, "and all I ask is to be let alone for two or three nights a week, so I can try to do something decent."

Lovey scorned him. "Something decent," she mimicked him. "Old pictures of buildings and bridges! Who wants to look at such trash?"

Suddenly a new wave of fury swept over her face. She had caught sight of the little McMyers sitting in her automobile. "Well, will you just look at that!" she cried, as if she were exclaiming to herself. "The nasty little brats!" Then she turned and ran out of the house, snatching up her hat and coat as she ran. The McMyers saw her coming and they jumped out of the car and dashed away as fast as their little legs would carry them.

thought Emmy, who saw things very clearly at times. "She's dying about the people who don't really care for her—Marianna and young Bill."

Those were the people Grandmother Pentland missed and wanted! The rich, selfish, carelessly cruel people who were The Family—and not the lowly Milburns.

Emmy's heart was full of bitterness toward her grandmother. She went down on her knees in her own room and began to pack her old straw suitcase.

"But we're all she has left," she said to herself, "and it serves her right! She's always treated us as if we didn't belong to her, and now we're all she has to turn to, in her trouble. She knows who her real family is now!"

All the bitterness and the hurt of years seemed to well up in her as she packed the suitcase.

NATIONS:
All Nations Honor Hoover
For the prestige of America, and for her continuance in the high position she now occupies in the world, nothing could be more important than choosing a President who commands the respect of other nations. Everywhere, Hoover's efficiency, his modesty, his courage and his broad human sympathy have won the affection and esteem of all people with whom he has come in contact. A democratic American and an exceptionally modest man, he has persistently declined official decorations, but letters of thanks have continued to pour into his home and his offices, years after his services abroad ended. Immediately after the great war, Hoover's relief workers carried besides their passports, a special pass with a gold seal and the signature of Herbert Hoover. Often the soldiers merely waved their bayonets at the sight of the regular passport, but when an officer in charge read Hoover's signature, he came to salute.

The Theater

By DOROTHY HERZOG

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 22.—Straining ears and wagging tongues. The colony perked up. By the dullness of "My dear, have you heard?" patter lately, it seemed as though romance had gone the way of the silent drama.

That was before Tom Mix and Lupe Vélez let acquaintanceship ripen into friendship. This is not to be misconstrued as a divorce in the Mix family. I, for one, have reformed. No more rumors.

LUPE VÉLEZ

It merely reports an "entente cordiale" between Tom and Lupe.

Tom hurt his leg recently, undertaking a stunt for "Outlawed". He was laid up. Lupe trailed over to see him late one afternoon. She found him in considerable pain and nervous from lack of sleep. Lupe promptly massaged his head and Tom hit the by-by trail. He awoke several hours later much refreshed and immediately asked for Lupe. She was reading downstairs. She stayed for dinner ere departing for home.

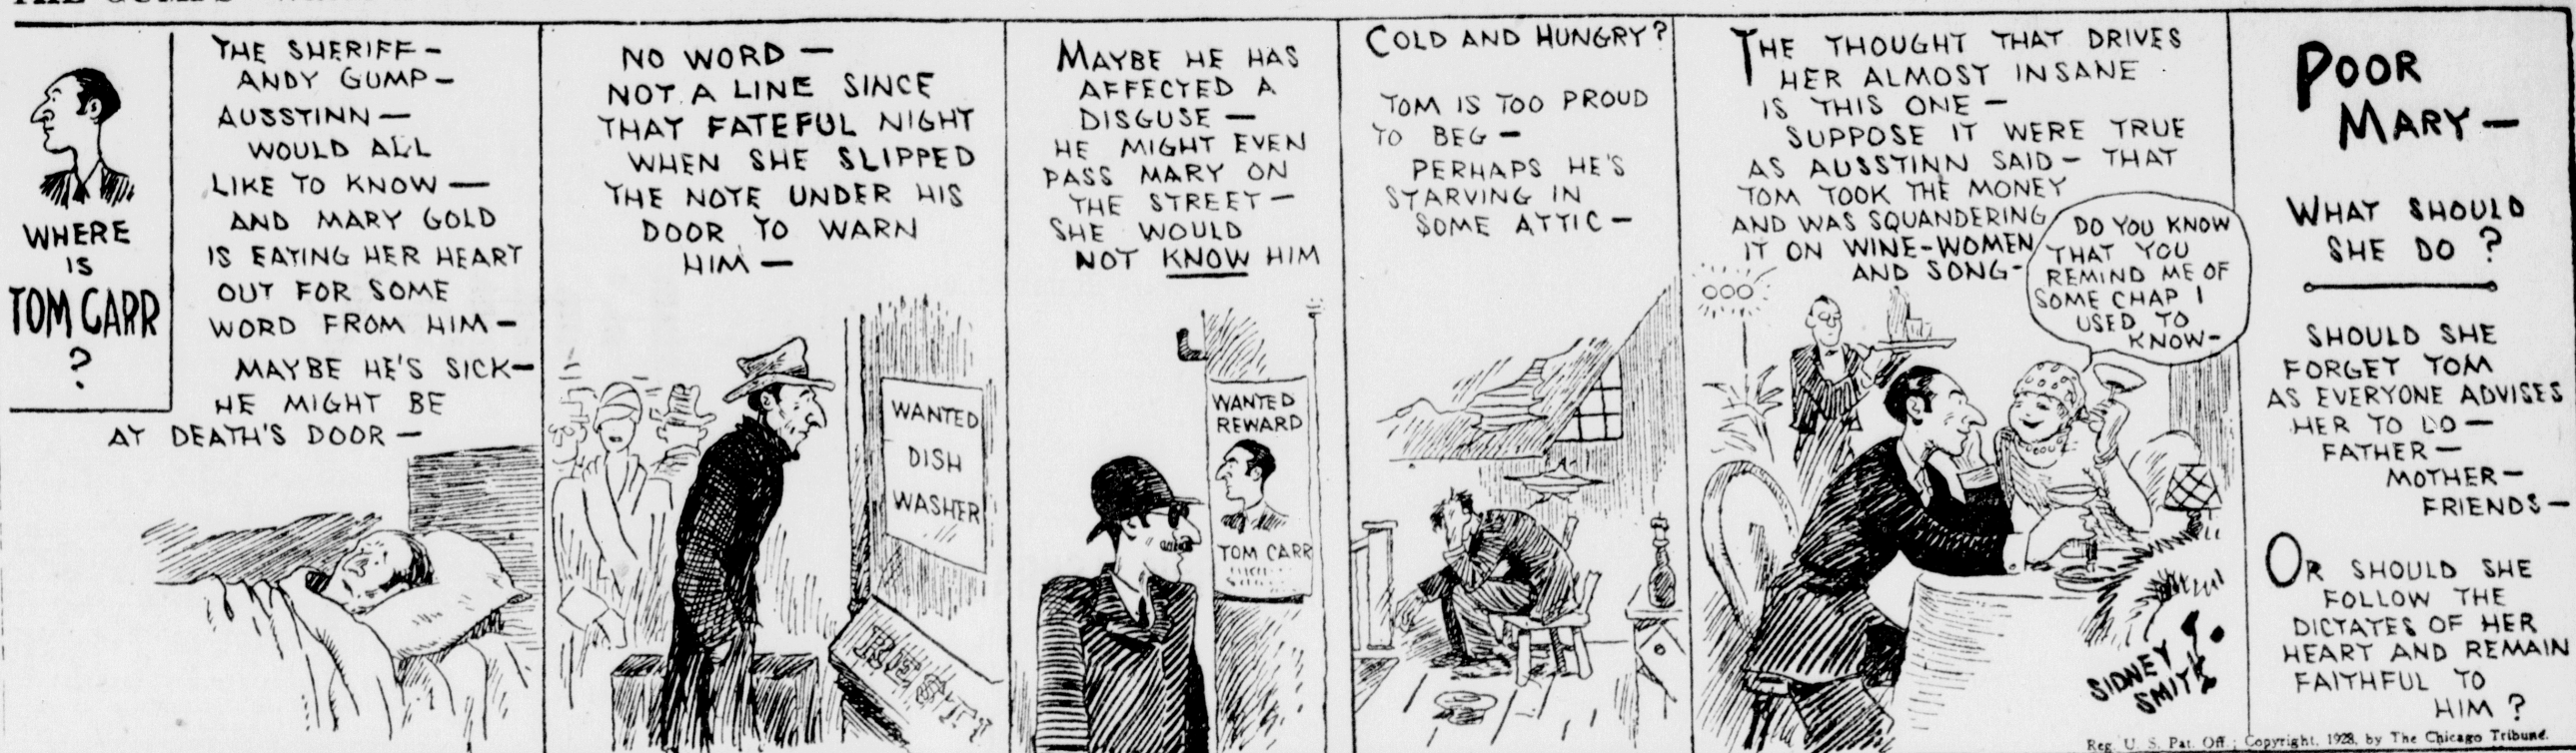

John Boles is the cock-o-the-walk these rainy days. Oh, yes, pardon the digression, but I neglected to report it has been raining intermittently and yesterday—may the local board of commerce forgive me—there was a thunder shower. Actually, thunder rolled from them thar hills and the House of Herzog rejoiced greatly.

Returning to Mr. Boles, John says his circulation has speeded up and the world is grand. Every once in so often he battles a mighty yen to return to Broadway and musical comedy. Now, however, he is the tenor in Warner's Vitaphone production of "The Desert Song". Learning score and lines, singing and speaking before the mike and camera, delight Boles beyond words. This sort of racket is right up his alley and those available for it are few and far between.

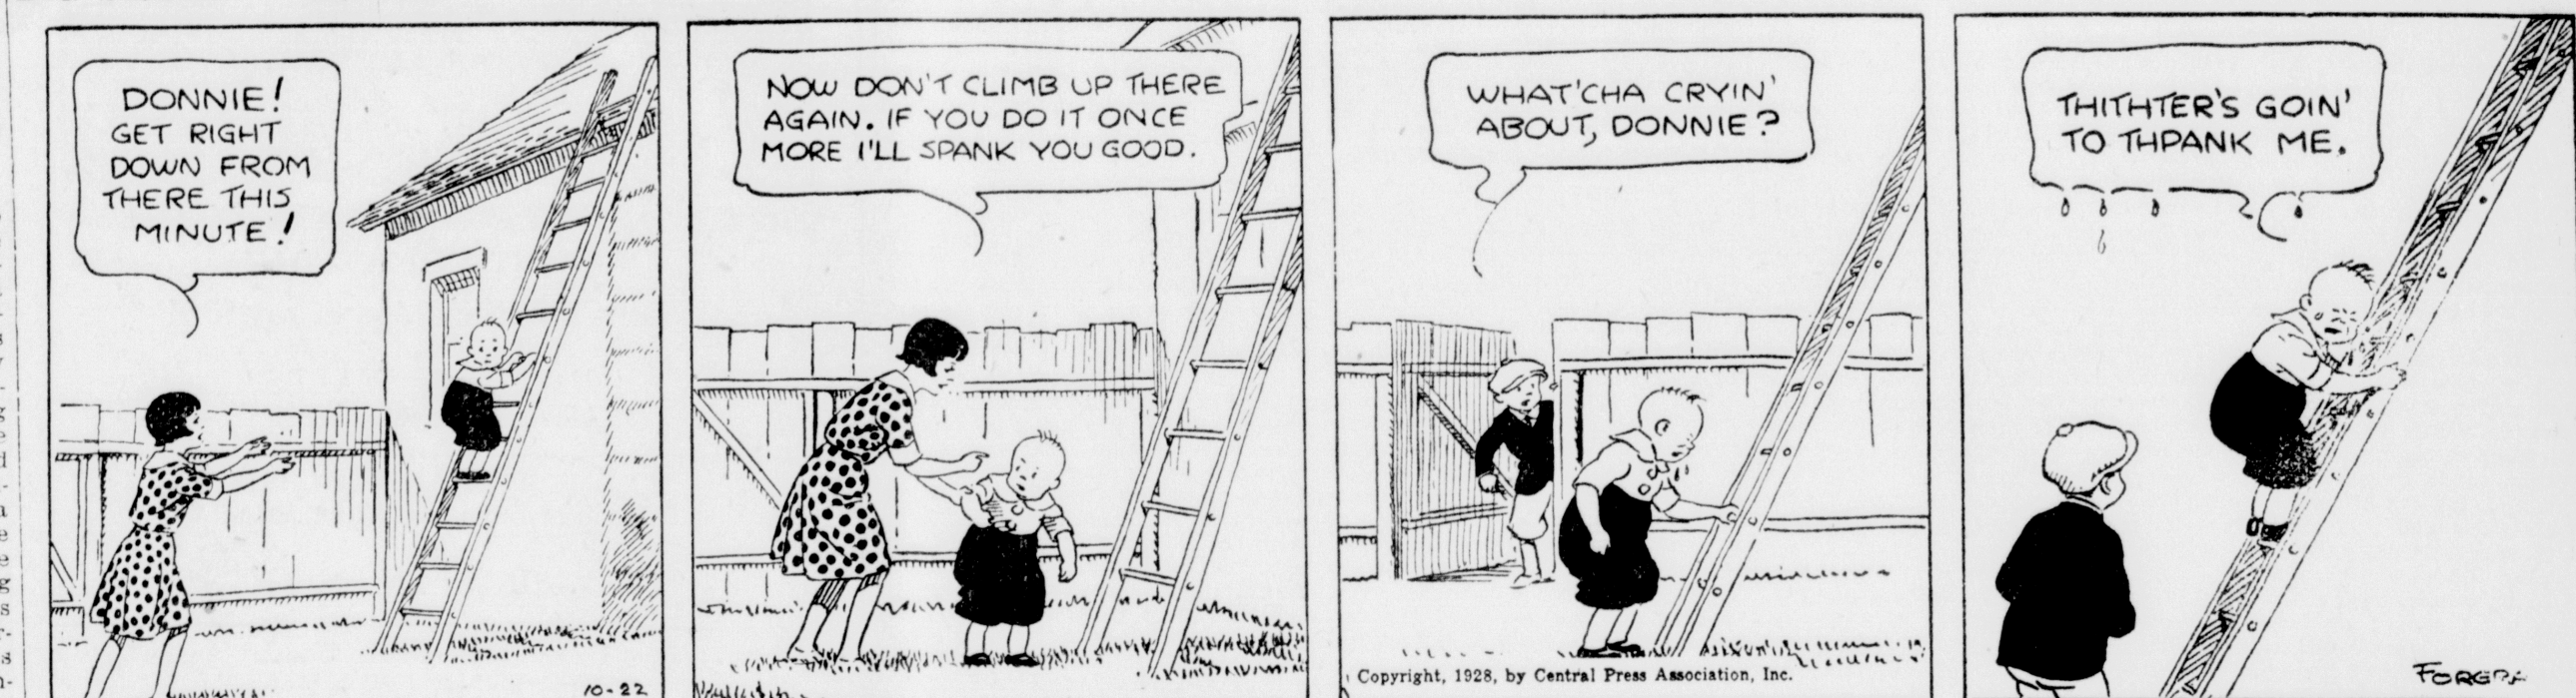

Joseph Schildkraut has gone to Riverside for a rest. Putting the show into "Showboat" was no leisurely job.

Robert Vignola threatens to chuck one of his famous tango—it's a game—parties in his trick home in Whitley Heights. Bob is one boy who saves the art of zipping a gathering. For a number of years Eddie Sutherland, the director, has owned an amusing home in Laurel Canyon. He had it renovated and a swimming pool built—when he married Louise Brooks. Came the divorce and now Eddie is getting rid of the house. Laurel Canyon is a fearful scary place, particularly at night when the moon forgets to fade in. Which may have nothing to do with the foregoing disclosure.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE EXPLAINED HERE BY CHURCH LECTURER

"Christian Science: Its Purpose and Method" was the subject of the lecture by Peter V. Ross, C. S. B., San Francisco, delivered in the auditorium of Central High School Saturday night.

Mr. Ross is a member of the board of lectureship of the mother church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The text of his message follows:

Thoughtful observers are impressed with the apparent imperfection of things as they pass before us in the panorama of life. The plant is twisted, the beast vicious, while man, the noblest of earth's inhabitants, seems so deplorably prone to disease and evil that he is described as mortal and fallen. May not all this supposed imperfection rest in our mistaken sense of things rather in the things themselves? Unquestionably the Creator has made all things perfect and permanent. Otherwise the universe could not endure. The source of the difficulty, then, must be sought in personal sense of the human mind, and the remedy must be applied to this mind and a correction therein wrought to the end that a perception be attained which sees man and the universe as God made them.

The human mind, because it is human, catches at most only faint glimpses of what is going on even in the so-called physical realm. Small wonder, then, that it gets a grotesque sense of spiritually real things, and, instead of seeing them in their glory and perfection, renders them sickly and ugly.

THE MENTAL REALM
So it is not surprising that the human mind should misinterpret, should belittle man. And this is precisely what the human mind does. Divine Mind, or God, creates and sees man spiritual and perfect, above and beyond disease; but the human mind, unable to comprehend man in his fullness and perfection, visualizes him as physical, as a finite form or figure, swayed by evil, tormented by disease, always limited and imperfect. Thus it is that evil, disease, and imperfection have their source and abiding place in the human mind or consciousness. Hence their cure must there be brought about.

Material things, the human body included, seem very real and tangible. But actually matter is only a mistaken sense of things as dense and heavy, as having weight and ends and sides. For the human mind is, so to speak, shortsighted. It gets a blurred sense of things as dimensional and ponderous. This restricted sense of things constitutes matter. Matter will therefore disappear as mortal sense, under the influence of truth, gives way to a right perception which sees things as they are in spiritual perfection. The disappearance of matter does not mean that the foundation of things will slip away or that the individual will disappear or lose his identity. It means that our heavy, awkward, cumbered, suffering sense of ourselves, and of things generally, will give place to the buoyant, free, spiritual—the true sense of things and of ourselves.

We live, then, in a mental realm. All things are mental, man himself being an aggregation of thoughts, a state of consciousness, instead of an aggregation of cells or a physical body as physiology declares. And it is toward consciousness rather than corporeality that Christian Science treatment is directed. Science, by declaring perfection in all things and in all places, operates to eliminate from human consciousness its beliefs that matter is actual, that disease is present, that evil is attractive. It sweeps from consciousness the heavy, sticky sense of man, and brings out the true sense of man as healthy and holy, as spiritual and perfect.

Christian Science accomplishes this by presenting the facts to the individual and arousing him to the true situation. It declares to him that the presence of God who is Love and Life leaves no place or possibility for disease and suffering; that man as the reflection of God is, that man is an expression of perfect Life and Mind and therefore that he is well and knows that he is well. The effect of these truths, as they are accepted by the individual, is to work a change in consciousness whereby his sense of pain or unrest, which is false, gives place to a sense of health and peace, which is true.

THE GREAT DISCOVERY
It will be remembered that Jesus, early in His ministry, healed all sorts of disease and even raised the dead, through spiritual means. Finally, three days after His crucifixion, He came from the sepulcher, and appeared not once but several times to His friends and talked with them during a period of forty days. Then He ascended, that is, became invisible to the physical senses. He had demonstrated that individual life is indestructible and continuous.

It might be thought that the significance of such a stupendous accomplishment would never be forgotten, but, within two or three centuries, it was, very largely, until some sixty years ago, when, here in America, a spiritually minded and deeply religious woman, apparently approaching the end of mortal existence as the result of an accident, turned to her Bible for consolation. While she was reading one of the gospel accounts of healing performed by Jesus, a sense of strength and freedom stole over her. She arose, dressed, and presented herself to anxious friends, sound and well.

But she was not content with this. She must understand the process of spiritual healing. To this end she searched the scriptures and devoted her life. She found that Jesus, in overcoming disease, setting aside material laws, and abolishing death itself, invoked absolute Science, which he understood, and which others can understand.

In order that by her discovery, she might profit by her discovery, she set forth the fundamentals of this Science in her great book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." Afterward she established the Christian Science Church with its periodicals and other means of disseminating and guarding the truth. Thus it was, in brief, that Mary Baker Eddy became the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science and earned the right to be called the Leader of the Christian Science movement.

Mr. Speer is a world traveler, author, orator and prominent churchman and is senior secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions. ### ARREST 'LEGGER

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 22.—A campus bootlegger who operated from a small roadster, was arrested near Ohio State University last night by police. Officers said the man was dispensing small bottles of liquor to students and football fans who had come here to attend the Ohio State-Michigan football game. The roadster contained forty-eight bottles of liquor, police said.

ABATEMENT PLEAS CLAIM GRAND JURY VIOLATED ITS OATH

for alleged violation of the Sunday closing law, it is contended.

It is charged that this was done not as in good faith and enforcement of the Sunday closing laws, but to "harass and annoy" theater owners and that the indictments if allowed to stand, will deprive them of the rights and privileges which are accorded every citizen, are unjust and do not give them equal protection of the law.

The charge is based on the allegation that the grand jury provided that they would not return indictments against anyone through "hatred, malice or ill-will and that they would leave no one unprotected through fear or favor."

Asking that the indictments be dismissed, the charge is also made that the original affidavits in the two cases were filed in the court of Mayor John W. Prugh; that the mayor had jurisdiction and that it was his duty to hear and determine the issues in the cases and that he had no authority to bind the theater operators over to the grand jury without noting on his records the fact that the public interest required him to do so.

In submitting the pleas in abatement, Attorney Johnson withdraw the plea of not guilty which had previously been entered for Hibbert. Trial of the Hibbert case is set for Wednesday and Binder was to be tried the following day.

Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy heard arguments on the plea in abatement Monday.

The indictments against the movie owners resulted from the filing of affidavits before Mayor Prugh on complaint of the Xenia Ministerial Association and W. C. T. U. representatives that both theaters were opened, Sunday, July 1 in violation of the state Sunday closing law, which is, however, not commonly enforced.

Since July 1 both theaters have been open every Sunday for matinee and evening shows with the attendance rivaling the Saturday patronage.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES
A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Taken nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE EXPLAINED HERE BY CHURCH LECTURER

"Christian Science; Its Purpose and Method" was the subject of the lecture by Peter V. Ross, C. S. B., San Francisco, delivered in the auditorium of Central High School Saturday night.

Mr. Ross is a member of the board of lecturership of the mother church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The text of his message follows:

Thoughtful observers are impressed with the apparent imperfection of things as they pass before us in the panorama of life. The plant is twisted, the beast vicious, while man, the noblest of earth's inhabitants, seems so deplorably prone to disease and evil that he is described as mortal and fallen. May not all this supposed imperfection rest in our mistaken sense of things rather in the things themselves? Unquestionably the Creator has made all things perfect and permanent. Otherwise the universe could not endure. The source of the difficulty, then, must be sought in personal sense or in the human mind, and the remedy must be applied to this mind and a correction therein wrought to the end that a perception be attained which sees man and the universe as God made them.

The human mind, because it is human, catches at most only faint glimpses of what is going on even in the so-called physical realm. Small wonder, then, that it gets a grotesque sense of spiritually real things, and, instead of seeing them in their glory and perfection, renders them sickly and ugly.

THE MENTAL REALM
So it is not surprising that the human mind should misinterpret, should belittle man. And this is precisely what the human mind does. Divine Mind, or God, creates and sees man spiritual and perfect, above and beyond disease; but the human mind, unable to comprehend man in his fullness and perfection, visualizes him as physical, as a finite form or figure, swayed by evil, tormented by disease, always limited and imperfect. Thus it is that evil, disease and imperfection have their source and abiding place in the human mind or consciousness. Hence their cure must there be brought about.

Material things, the human body included, seem very real and tangible. But actually matter is only a mistaken sense of things as dense and heavy, as having weight and ender and sides. For the human mind is, so to speak, shortsighted. It gets a blurred sense of things as dimensional and ponderous. This restricted sense of things constitutes matter. Matter will therefore disappear as mortal sense, under the influence of truth, gives way to a right perception which sees things as they are in spiritual perfection. The disappearance of matter does not mean that the foundation of things will slip away or that the individual will disappear or lose his identity. It means that our heavy, awkward, cumbered, suffering sense of ourselves, and of things generally, will give place to the buoyant, free, spiritual—the true sense of things and of ourselves.

We live, then, in a mental realm. All things are mental, man himself being an aggregation of thoughts, a state of consciousness. Instead of an aggregation of cells or a physical body as physiology declares. And it is toward consciousness rather than corporeality that Christian Science treatment is directed. Science, by declaring perfection in all things and in all places, operates to eliminate from human consciousness its beliefs that matter is actual, that disease is present, that evil is attractive. It sweeps from consciousness the heavy, sickly sense of man, and brings out the true sense of man as healthy and holy, as spiritual and perfect.

Christian Science accomplishes this by presenting the facts to the individual and arousing him to the true situation. It declares to him that the presence of God who is Love and Life leaves no place or possibility for disease and suffering; that man as the reflection of God is as perfect in a degree as God is; that man is an expression of perfect Life and Mind and therefore that he is well and knows that he is well. The effect of these truths, as they are accepted by the individual, is to work a change in consciousness whereby his sense of pain or unrest, which is false, gives place to a sense of health and peace, which is true.

THE GREAT DISCOVERY
It will be remembered that Jesus, early in His ministry, healed all sorts of disease and raised the dead, through spiritual means. Finally, three days after His crucifixion, He came from the sepulcher, and appeared not once but several times to His friends and talked with them during a period of forty days. Then He ascended, that is, became invisible to the physical senses. He had demonstrated that individual life is indestructible and continuous.

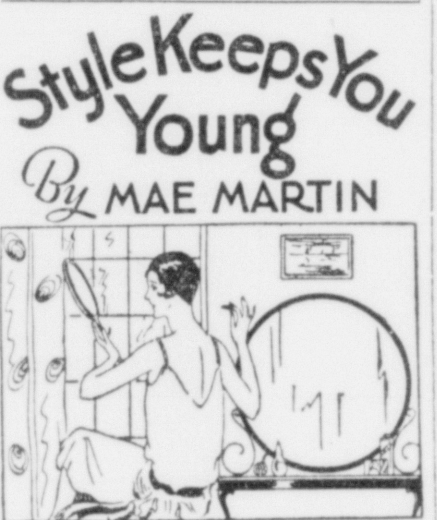

It might be thought that the significance of such a stupendous accomplishment would never be forgotten, but, within two or three centuries, it was, very largely, in America, a spiritually minded and deeply religious woman, apparently approaching the end of mortal existence as the result of an accident, turned to her Bible for consolation. While she was reading one of the gospel accounts of healing performed by Jesus, a sense of strength and freedom stole over her. She arose, dressed, and presented herself to anxious friends, sound and well.

But she was not content with this. She must understand the process of spiritual healing. To this end she searched the scriptures and devoted her life. She found that Jesus, in overcoming disease, setting aside material laws, and abolishing death itself, invoked absolute Science, which he understood and which others can understand.

In order that the world at large might profit by her discovery, she set forth the fundamentals of this Science in her great book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." Afterward she established the Christian Science Church with its periodicals and other means of disseminating and guarding the truth. Thus it was, in brief, that Mary Baker Eddy became the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science and earned the right to be called the Leader of the Christian Science movement.

FARMER HANGS SELF

MARYSVILLE, O., Oct. 22.—Marital troubles were assigned today as the motive for the suicide of Grege Black, 60, Dover Township farmer, who was found hanging in his barn by the Rev. E. C. Pettore, pastor of the Springdale Baptist Church. Black had been married twice and became estranged from his second wife last spring. She has been living at Hillsboro.

ARREST 'LEGGERS'

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 22.—A campus bootlegger who operated from a small roadster, was arrested near Ohio State University last night by police. Officers said the man was dispensing small bottles of liquor to students and football fans who had come here to attend the Ohio State-Michigan football game. The roadster contained forty-eight bottles of liquor, police said.

ABATEMENT PLEAS CLAIM GRAND JURY VIOLATED ITS OATH

for alleged violation of the Sunday closing law, it is contended.

It is charged that this was done as in good faith and enforcement of the Sunday closing laws, but to "harass and annoy" theater owners and that the indictments if allowed to stand, will deprive them of the rights and privileges which are accorded every citizen, are unjust and do not give them equal protection of the law.

The charge is based on the allegation the oath of the grand jurors provided that they would not return indictments against anyone through "hatred, malice or ill-will" and that they would leave no one unprotected through fear or favor.

Asking that the indictments be dismissed, the charge is also made that the original affidavits in the two cases were filed in the court of Mayor John W. Prugh; that the mayor had jurisdiction and that it was his duty to hear and determine the issues in the cases and that he had no authority to bind the theater operators over to the grand jury without noting on his records the fact that the public interest required him to do so.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

drew the plea of not guilty which had previously been entered for Hibbert. Trial of the Hibbert case is set for Wednesday and Binder was to be tried the following day.

Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy heard arguments on the plea in abatement Monday. The indictments against the movie owners resulted from the filing of affidavits before Mayor Prugh on complaint of the Xenia Ministerial Association and W. C. T. U. representatives that both theaters were opened, Sunday, July 1 in violation of the state Sunday closing law, which is, however, not commonly enforced.

Since July 1 both theaters have been open every Sunday for matinee and evening shows with the attendance rivaling the Saturday patronage.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)
